State's jobless rate inches up

SACRAMENTO (P) There were 75,000 more California jobholders in March than in February, but the seasonally adjusted unemployment rate still crept up from 5.3 per cent to 5.4 per cent, fig-ures showed Friday.

The jobless rate in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area fell however from 4.8 per cent to 4.7 per cent.

The nation's unemployment rate dipped slightly in March as the number of Americans working hit an all-time high, offering a bright note in an otherwise gloomy over-all economic picture.

Americans holding jobs rose by 700,000 last month, on a seasonally adjusted basis, to 83.9 million, the second consecutive big monthly increase. Teenagers accounted for nearly half the gain.

At the same time, the Labor Department said Friday unemployment edged down from 5.1 per cent in February to 5 per cent last month. This was not considered significant because unemployment normally drops from February to March.

President Nixon's chief economic adviser, Her-bert Stein, cited the rise in job holders as the largest monthly increase in 20

Dwight Gedulding, California director of the De-partment of Human Resources Development, said gains in outdoor work were to be expected with the coming of spring weather. But he noted that the total nonfarm payroll of 7,359,100 in March "was the second highest on record, exceeded only by the record total of 7,406,400 in December, 1972, when temporary workers boosted the figure during the Christmas

Total employment in California was 8,392,400 in March, Gedulding said, compared to 8,316,800 in February and 8,154,100 in March of 1972.

Within two hours after the district's 155 polling places closed at 8 p.m., a trend was apparent, showing challengers Mary L. Jackson and Norman Holley, running as a slate for the two board seats, dropping farther and farther behind the incumbents.

Final ballot counting assured Mrs. Wallace, a member of the board since 1967 and current board chairman, a seat on the five-member panel until 1977. She received 15,988 votes.

Zarifes, appointed to the board in 1971, won by nearly as great a margin — with 14,728 votes — as did Mrs. Wallace. It was his first test before the district's voters. The two incumbents won seats on the identical school and Community College District boards by nearly a four-to-one vote ratio. Their low-key campaigns stressed a superior history of educational success in the districts during their periods of serv-request, which will be forwarded later.

But in discussions with U.S. officials, Thieu and his top economic advisers, Economy Minister Pham Kim Ngoc and Finance Minister Ha Xuan Trung, have projected their country's economic needs.

These projections, sources said, foresee a rise in American aid in the next two years, but leveling off by 1976.

Thieu talked Friday with Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson, Deputy Secretary of State

Kenneth Rush and Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, Director of the International Monetary Fund. In talks Thursday with members of the House and Senate, he reportedly succeeded in congressional winning support for continued aid.

Thieu also arranged to host a dinner Friday night for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, whom Thieu has described as a "good friend."

In fiscal 1973, the United States will provide South Vietnam with an estimated $486 million in tary aid will total $2.2 billion, some $725 million of it in ammunition. But by 1980, sources

South Vietnam's said, for economic aid from the United States will have fallen to about $100 million. They provided no indication how much continued military aid Thieu was seeking.

Thieu, who promised he would "never, never"ask for American troops to return to Vietnam, also was said to have told U.S. officials privately that he feared Communist attacks new fighting throughout Indochina.

He said a Communist stronghold in Cambodia could be a threat to Thailand and ultimately to Malaysia, according to sources.

For the immediate future, Thicu reportedly believes that the Cambodian Army can defend its territory and has not asked for help from South Vietnam. He also was confident that his government could counter Communist thrusts against South Vietnam, sources said.

Levee workers in New Orleans, warned that an approaching storm system could bring new rains, hastily added sandbags to the flood barrier protecting the Lousiana city's French Quarter,

The river showed signs of slowly receding along the Illinois-Missouri border and at Memphis, Tenn. But families were still being evacuated in boats and National Guard trucks from a number of communities threatened by the rain-swollen river.

Mississippi Gov. William Waller estimated the damage to his state at $120 million and said another 3,000 families over a five-county area may have to be evacuated.

In Louisiana, another 1,000 were reported homeless, and state prison officials and the National Guard worked out a contingency plan for evacuating the 2,000 immates of the penitentiary at Angola. The sprawling plantation prison, already partly flooded, lies at a bend of the Mississippi River north of Baton Rouge.

The river was at 49.5 feet at Vicksburg and expected to crest at 50 feet Sunday. This was a slight increase over the previous crest forecast of 49.7 feet.

The major threat to Mississippians, however, was caused by backwater from other rain-swollen streams such as the Yazoo and Sunflower Rivers, which will not be able to flow into the Mississippi. Edwards also asked Agriculture Secretary Earl

Butz to declare nine Louisiana parishes "imminent disaster areas," entitling them to a crash feed donation program. The U. S. Corps of Engineers predicted 50,000 acres would be flooded in Sharkey, Issaquena, and Yazoo

Counties and the northern portion of Warren County in Dirt was hauled in for the construction of temporary levees around some small farming towns such as Cary, Miss., located about 35 miles north of Vicksburg in rural Sharkey County. The Red Cross in Mississippi estimated it had received requests for assistance from more than 3,000 persons since flooding began in mid-March, but officials noted many others had moved in with friends and providing her protection was one of the first jobs. he had when he became security chief for President Nixon's re-election campaign in late 1971.

McCord's deposition also said he had been asked to take the job by a man named John Caul-field, who said he "work-ed for John Dean," the White House chief counsel, and that Dean apparently approved McCord for the post.
The deposition

It was released by U.S. District Judge Charles R. Richey who will conduct the trial this summer.

THE DEPOSITION was made public as McCord testified for a second day before a federal grand jury that has resumed its investigation of the Watergate case. He was scheduled to return for further interrogation on Monday.

His deposition contrasted sharply with a statement by Mrs. Mitchell last weekend, who told UPI it was a "goddamn lie" that her husband and McCord had been good Rep. Benjamin S.

Sales off sharply, but beef prices hold firm

United Press International

Housewives found weekend meat specials at marked-down prices in supermarkets across the nation Friday, but tags were unchanged on beef and pork cuts in most stores and chicken prices rose in some shops. Consumer activists appeared to hold their ranks in most cities on what traditionally is the heaviest food shopping day of the week, and some planned to extend the six-day-old meat boycott beyond this week.

Sales of beef and pork were off substantially in many cities but two Ohio chains - Fisher Fazio-Costa Supermarkets and Gold Circle Food Stores reported buyers were drifting back to the coun-

Tough judicial code

WASHINGTON — A tough, comprehensive new code of ethics covering all federal judges, except the nine members of the Supreme Court, was adopted Friday by the Judicial Conference of the United States. The conference adopted in major part a code of conduct approved by the American Bar Associa-tion last summer as the first overhaul of judicial standards since 1924. Its major provisions are disclosure of outside income, self-disqualification from cases in which a judge has financial or family interest, and taking disciplinary measures against colleagues for un-professional conduct.

Last 'Freedom Flight'

MIAMI - The last of 260,557 Freedom Flight refugees from Fidel Castro's Cuba limped off a plane here Friday. The airlift began Dec. 1, 1965 when Castro told the late President Lyndon Johnson he would release any countrymen who wanted to leave. With the U.S. paying the charter fee to various airlines, the flights operated twice daily for more than five years, bringing some 3,500 Cubans a month to the U.S. and creating problems for the Miami area. The U.S. government paid for relocating many of the refugees in other parts of the country, but large numbers drifted back to Miami.

WASHINGTON - The Federal Aviation Administration said Friday airline passenger traffic is likely to increase at the rate of about 10 per cent a year for the next 10 years. The current airline passenger total is about 200.4 million a year, and by 1984 the total should rise to 524 million, the FAA said. The greatest percentage gain will be in international passengers, increasing from the present 21.3 million to 62.8 million in 1984, the FAA said.

Robbers outwit police army

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany — A pair of bank robbers who made their getaway using two women as hostages outwitted a 1,000-man search party in a wooded area of West Germany Friday. Authorities did not exclude the possibility that bandits had escaped the area on foot, carrying with them $13,160 in holdup loot and $350,000 ransom money for releasing two women hostages. The drama began Thursday afternoon when the two armed men, armed with a rifle and a pistol, burst into a bank branch in the Rhineland city of Moenchen Gladbach. When an alarm alerted police, the robbers, aged about 40 and 30, held two women employes hostage in the bank. After five hours of negotiations, police provided the gunmen with a getaway car and one million marks ransom in return for a promise to free the women during the course of the night.

G.I. home

In the event of a divorce, can the court award the family home to the wife against the husband's wishes?

If the wife gets a home, financed bya G.I. loan, is the husband responsible for that loan if the wife or whoever buys the home doesn't keep up the payments? Also, will the husband be able to get another G.I. loan? H.O.C., Downey.

The answer to all your questions is a qualified yes. The court can award the home to the wife, permanently or temporarily, over the husband's objections al-though "the court will be duty bound to make the division of community property equal," said a Long Beach attorney. The veteran would be responsible for the loan if his former wife defaults on the payments, according to a Veterans Administration loan processing section spokesman. He would also be responsible if any successive owner defaults unless the veteran gets a release of liability from the VA. In order for him to get this release, the new owner must meet VA qualification and agree to assume the liability. The buyer doesn't have to be a veteran. The veteran can be eligible to apply for a new G.I. loan if the first house is sold and the loan paid in full - it isn't considered paid if there is only a release of liability — and if the veteran's reason for selling the property was beyond his control, such as divorce, a move due to a job change or health problems. For further information on G.I. loans, phone the VA at 479-4011 or write them at 11000 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90024.

You now have your order, nearly a month after ACTION LINE first contacted European Distributors. According to Alice Sandi, duplicate orders were sent to you twice during this time, and "apparently someone else was picking up her mail." The U.S. Postal Inspectors have received numerous complaints for nondelivery and are seeking to stop the company and its president, Alexander Kuhn, from using the mails to promote this product. The government accusation is that the product is being falsely represented as an appetite killer, a spokesman said. The hearing will be Monday in Los Angeles.

Committee on Industrial

Safety was told during a hearing here that faulty falsework caused the Foothill Freeway bridge collapse. That testimony came from the head of a state Division of Highways inquiry team.

Falsework is the temporary wood and steel structure that supports a bridge under construction.

An attorney for the DIS said he would accept a suggestion by committee chairman Jack R. Fenton that the safety division turn over its records on the collapse to the Pasadena city attorney. Fen-ton said the city official should make an independent determination of whether criminal charges should be filed...

J. Neil Perry, a Division of Highways engineer and head of the task force investigating the collapse, said there was advance warning that something was amiss. About five minutes before the collapse, a workman pouring the concrete outer stem heard popping and other noises. He shut off the concrete after realizing something was not right, Perry said.

THE REPORT said that a metal cable holding the forms together had broken shortly before the accident, causing the forms to spread.

The stem where the concrete was being poured had apparently failed. but Perry said this was. not an unusual occurrence and in fact had accurred several times during the

- Planks forming the working platform were not nailed down and were knocked off support girders when the concrete was poured.

- The speed at which the concrete was poured. A retired safety consultant for the DIS, John N. Jepson, said "we are still not getting enforcement" of safety regulations pro-tecting workers and the Death warning cited in triple murder arrest

SAN RAFAEL (UPI) -A mental patient accused of slaying a couple and their son warned three months before the mur-ders he was going to kill the youth, according to documents filed Friday with the Marin County Superior Court. Brent W. Bedeyan, 22, Mill Valley, was alleged to have made the warning in December to San Ra-fael psychiatrist Dr. Joseph P. Gutstadt.

Details of the warning were disclosed when the search warrant that was used in Bedeyan's arrest was returned to the court.

The part-time lifeguard and grocery bagger was arrested two days after the shotgun deaths of Melvin J. Schallock, 61, his wife, Ruth, 56, and son, Daniel, 19, a guitar player with a jazz-rock group. Their bodies were found in the driveway beside the Schallocks' hillside home that had been set on fire.

Bedeyan has pleaded innocent to murder charges.

District Attorney Bruce Bales said the young man was confined at the Marin County mental health center for a month in 1972 and was still undergoing treatment at the time of the murders.

AF bomber drops load near Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) - An attack bomber accidentally dropped six 500-pound bombs near several occupied buildings 15 miles northwest of Las Vegas, the Air Force reported Friday.

The bombs exploded about 100 yards from several inhabited buildings at Corn Creek, about 10 miles outside the Nellis Air Force Base gunnery range. They were dropped by an A7D attack aircraft, which was on a routine training flight Thursday night, the Air Force said.

The damage to private property is believed to be limited to broken window glass in two buildings in the area." The announcement said.

Air Force officials said the live bombs exploded 'and caused some cratering."

The attack aircraft which dropped the bombs had a lone pilot aboard, and a chase plane was in the

Judge robbed by 2 gunmen

Two long-haired, bearded men held a Municipal Court judge captive in his Hollywood home and robbed him of $2,000 in cash Friday, police said.

Judge Leland Geiler, 59, who has been suspended from the bench for alleged misconduct, was unharmed.

Two men in their early 20s entered Geiler's home about mid-day, police said they were told. Geiler said he was held at gunpoint while the intruders ransacked the house. Then, he said, thếy tied him with a telephone cord and left him in a bath room, Geiler said he worked himself free and called police.

Geiler, a retired police sergeant, was appointed a Municipal Court judge by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown on Dec. 30, 1966. The state Commission on Judicial Qualifications on Aug. 29, 1972, recommended that he be removed because he allegedly used obscene language and engaged in vulgar behavior in and around the court-room. Legal clinic attack by bar association

United Press International

Two attorneys in trou-swer allegations of profesble with the State Bar Association because of a legal clinic they started to provide low cost services to middle income families said Friday accusations against them come from lawyers whose pocketbooks are being hurt. "We believe the state bar is illegally using its disciplinary powers to protect its own economic self-interest," said Stephen Z. Myers.

Myers and Leonard D. Jacoby have been ordered to appear before a bar committee June 14 to an-sional misconduct in connection with their Van Nuys firm, "The Legal Clinic of Jacoby and Myers.

The firm's opening last September was heralded by an open house during which the clinic received news coverage in several local media sources and a national news magazine.
The state bar contends

Myers and Jacoby violated the code of ethics by "advertising" their services and by practicing law under an assumed name of "the legal clinic."

Ex-Gov. Brown calls tax limit 'outrageous'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) -Former Gov. Edmund G. Brown Friday termed Gov. Reagan's tax limitation plan "outrageous," "simplistic," fakery" unadulterated and "crackpot."

But he said Reagan probably would collect signatures to place the proposed consti-

"It's easy to get signatures for any crackpot measure. That's been demonstrated time after time," the outspoken former Democratic governor told newsmen during one of his infrequent returns to the capitol.

Brown also said an "un-beatable team" and the "strongest team" for the Democratic Party next year would be his son, Secretary of State Ed-mund G. Brown, Jr., as the gubernatorial candidate and Rep. Jerome R. Waldie of Antioch as the nominee for lieutenant

'You have both youth and experience and name," said Brown, referring particularly to his 35year-old son.

Reagan, who defeated Brown in the 1966 gubernatorial election, was out of town launching his signature-collecting campaign for the tax limitation initiative.

The measure would place a ceiling on total state taxes which only could be lifted by a vote of the people.

'It is the most outrageous proposal that's been submitted to the people of the state of California since the Watson amendment," said Brown. He referred to Proposition 14, rejected by voters last November, which would have drastically reduced property taxes and raised

Reagan's initiative would lower state income taxes one time by 20 per cent as a way of spending a large chunk of what the governor estimates is a $852 million budget sur-plus. Brown said, "It's sheer unadulterated fakery" to tie the budget surlus to the long-range tax

Taxable sales gain $2 billion in state

Taxable sales in California gained an unprecedented $2.15 billion during the last quarter of 1972 compared to the same period a year earlier, the state Board of Equaliza-tion reported Friday, but much of the gain came from the new sales tax on gasoline.

The quarter's sales on which the state and local governments collect taxes were $15.2 lion, the board said, an increase of 16.6 per cent over the fourth quarter of 1971. The increase pushed the total annual taxable sales in the state to $53.7 billion, an increase of 14.6 per cent over 1971.

RISING prices account-ed for 3.8 per cent of the increase, the board's report said.

But the sales tax on gasoline, which became effective July 1, 1972, accounted for 40 per cent of ing the quarter totaled 2.5 billion gallons purchased for $880 million, boosting the sale of nondurable items to an increase of 23.6 per cent. Without service stations, nondurable sales would have increased only 9 per cent.

The taxable sales of businesses featuring durable goods rose 14 per cent, with building materials leading all categories with an 18.5 per cent increase.

FOR THE third year in a row, Northern Califor-nia and the mountain counties set the pace in fourth quarter growth with an increase of 320.4 per cent, the report said.

Among other areas, there was a three-way tie for second between Southern California, the San Joaquin Valley and the Central Coast, all with 18 per cent.

Senate panel urges curbs on Reagan jet

SACRAMENTO UN - A senate subcommittee proposed strict controls Friday on the use of Gov. Reagan's new $525-anhour executive jet to outlaw secrecy surrounding Reagan's use of the plane.

Under the rules proposed by Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, a com-plete list of every passenger on every flight of the six-seat jet would be required, and a statement of the official state business of each passenger would be made public.

The Republican governor's staff has refused to reveal details of who is using the jet, or for what purposes. Reagan's office has been billed for $52,080 worth of air time since the plane was leased by the State Department of General Services in Janu-

A spokesman for Reagan said the state was reimbursed for the Las Vegas flight - the only one out of the state so far in the 400 mph jet — out of Republican party funds.

WAY SAID his proposal would specifically require that the passenger lists and purposes of the flights "be made a public record for anyone to look at. That would be a step in the right direction."

Way's proposal was adopted in intent without opposition by the Senate Finance subcommittee Way chairs, which is in charge of the General Services budget.

The proposal would also prohibit the use of the leased jet outside the State of California by any state official.

The subcommittee ordered consultants to draft specific budget language describing the proposed public disclosure requirements for adoption at a later hearing.

Questioned a week ago by The Associated Press about the use of the plane, Reagan's press secretary. Edwin Gray, said:

FOR management purposes and for security considerations, we are smeimply not going to get into the purpose of trips made by the governor and members of his staff ...by whatever mode of transportation.

But Gray confirmed that all but one of the then-22 Reagan flights in the plane — including the Sinatra dinner flights were considered official state business and had been billed to taxpayers.

The AP reported earlier that between Jan 1 and Feb. 28, $32,035 worth of flight time had been billed to Reagan's office, including seven weekend flights costing a total of $9,660 from Sacramento to the vicinity of Reagan's Pacific Palisades home.

Lawrence Robinson. director of the agency in charge of the new airplane, told the subcommittee Friday that the governor's office was billed for another 44.1 hours of flight time in March, which equals another $23,152.50 worth of flying.

SEVEN other state agencies which have used for $15.015 worth of air time in the jet since January, Robinson's report indicated.

Both Way and Democratic Sen. Walter Stiern of Bakersfield commented on the "apparent change" in Reagan's attitude toward the use of a state airplane.

Reagan severely criticized former Gov. Edmund G. Brown's plane, the propeller-driven "Grizzly Bear," during the 1966 gubernatorial campaign as an unnecessary extravagance and had the plane sold for $217,555 six weeks after he took office in 1967.

The Reagan plane is costing $398,906 to lease for the final two years of Reagan's term.

"The present governor thought this was a horrible thing to have an airplane for the governor and now he needs one. Stiern said, adding that he believes Reagan's 1966 comments were "very political."

added: Way governor has been operating six years without an airplane, and suddenly he needs one," Way said. "I' guess he was in concrete. but the concrete is crumbling," Way added.

Prison dulled impact of release

By MAJ, CHARLES-BOYD

My morale was at its of North Vietnam ended in 1968, but it reached the high point last December when President Nixon resumed bombing in ear-

That was the highlight of all my seven years as a prisoner of war. I was ecstatic when I learned those B52s were rolling on Hanoi.

It was the beginning of the end.

After the first few months of captivity, life in prison was a matter of waiting, keeping my mind active and my body fit. In addition to the intellectual exercises of weekend "movies" and daily classes, I did pushups, kip-ups, ran in place, steps onto the bed and isometrics. At my low point I lost about 45 pounds, mostly due to the minimal

AFTER ABOUT nine months time as a POW, I realized I could survive mentally. I reached a state of indefiniteness and was prepared to wait 20 years if necessary.

Gradually I regained the use of my arms which had been injured those first two nights in the torture chamber. The numbness lingered for '11 months.

Medical help was nonexistant, or so superficial that it didn't matter. Fortunately I didn't sustain a major illness or injury during those seven years. I contracted beriberi at one point at a camp we called Briar Patch, 40 miles southwest of Hanoi. which resulted in permanent optical damage.

There was always a North Vietnamese in camp the guards called a doctor. But doctor in Vietnamese could be translated as a man who had considerably less knowledge ine than an A Force corpsman. Almost any prisoner knew more than the "Doctors" did about medicine, just from what we'd picked up at home.

ONCE A YEAR or so a real doctor came to camp and looked at us. Medicine was dispensed sparingly. He might make a recommendations about sanitation and let it go at that.

Some prisoners died in captivity for various reasons. Some, I suppose, were killed accidentally during torture. Those prisoners appeared healthy, yet they simply would disappear. When we were released those men were listed as dead by the North Vietnamese.

I've tried hard not to hate the Vietnamese because I don't want to spend the rest of my life in hitterness. Nothing can be gained from that emotion. I'd like to forget them. They aren't worthy of my attention.

Bad as they are, I have far more contempt for the likes of Jane Fonda and some other peaceniks. Fonda's broadcasts from Hanoi were the most disgusting acts of which I was aware throughout the war. I believe she and all the others of her ilk prolonged the war by their activity.

YET THE amazing aspect is the fact that some of these opinions would be newsworthy. I could understand it if a U.S. senator's antiwar opinion might be heard in some quarters. But some visitors were nothings; inarticulate, illogical, unintelligent, and apparently, completely without character. Even some grammar was worse than that of Tokyo Rose in World War II.

Maj.Charles G. Boyd of Wichita, Kan., who spent nearly seven years in the "Hanoi Hilton," is visiting his sister, Shirley, and her husband, Dr. G. Ray Bouch, 4455 Myrtle Ave., Long Beach. In a four art series written for United Press International, he relates his experiences as a war prisoner of the North Vietnamese.

My greatest regret about imprisonment is that I was unable to contribute anything to our efforts in Southeast Asia for seven years.

I looked on POWs as a liability to the war effort, not an asset to our nation. The Vietnamese were keeping us alive solely to use us as their ace in the hole at negotiations. We were the tools or levers for them to exact their de-

I FELT THAT our government probably would make concessions in our behalf and therefore not get a settlement that was the most advantageous to the country as a whole. I had mixed emotions, really. At one and the same time I was proud to know I was part of a nation that would never forget us, and yet somehow, I felt guilty for being a liability.

Nothing short of total collapse of the United States, I knew would cause the country to abandon me. It was that faith in our country that kept us going. And I can't emphasize enough how much that meant to us. We knew that a mighty nation was standing behind us, and we realized it important more things to do before it got around to bringing us home. But we knew we hadn't been forgotten.

We were made aware of this by the tremendous amount of military pres-sure against North Vietnam. Most of us had developed an acute perception, reading the progression of events by watching our captors.

MOST OF THE time when the pressure was applied by our military, the North Vietnamese were being hurt —and we knew it. They vented their frustrations on us. Their reaction was hard on us. But beginning in May of 1972, I detected a change in their behavior at the very time when our bombers were hurting them most. They began to take it easy on us. The pressure remained off and there were signs of improvement. Not much, but enough to indicate a change in the tides. Late that year, the prison allowed us to mingle with men from other cell-blocks, which was highly irregular. I interpreted this as an indication that the North Vietnamese suspected the war was drawing to a close. I felt we would soon be going home, though release still was months away.

When the cease-fire agreements were signed those of us in the Hanoi Hilton were taken into a big courtyard where the North Vietnamese brass read the news to us.

I SHOULD have been more excited, I suppose, but I had been given a book of poetry a short time before and could only think of finding one of my friends, John Reynolds, to show him my prize.

We had been let down so often I couldn't grasp the idea that it was really happening. Here I was living one of the most dramatic moments of my life and all I could think of was this wonderful

It was difficult to imagine a world with hot showers, being able to shave myself alone every day instead of in a courtyard with a blunt razor twice a week under the supervision of a guard.

The camp had been emptied of POW's months earlier. One of the most beautifully executed military operations in history was ironically unsuccessful. I heard the news of the truce wearing black pajama-like garments and rubber tire sandals. I'd forgotten how it felt to wear clean, well-fitting clothes.

I'd put such other things as steak dinners out of my mind, along with thoughts of the good life. My cellmate, Smitty Harris (Capt. Carlyle S. Harris), and I once listed all the North Vietnam is the pic-ture of "The Rabbit" standing at a small transfer area at Gia Lam Airport in Hanoi. He held a muster sheet and was calling off the names of the men he had tortured for years. He didn't look up as he called out our names.

I'm sure more than one POW would have liked to spend some time alone with "The Rabbit."

Aboard the return airaircraft we gawked and milled around in a sort of dream world. No one was rational, I'm sure. I was suffused with a feeling of awe. I couldn't quite believe it was true. We ate a food supplement, but I wanted a plate of bacon and eggs and a big steak.

AT CLARK Air Base I got those eggs_and the steak. The Air Force debriefed us on MIA's. wanting to learn as much as possible about the men who had disappeared.

I was in the first contingent of 116 men to return. After four days at Clark we boarded another C141 for Honolulu, Travis Air Force Base, then Kelly

Although we've been married several years we restated our wedding vows and exchanged rings in a short but beautiful ceremony in the chapel at Sheppard.

I'M NO LONGER physically qualified to fly be-cause of the residual effects of beriberi, but I plan to stay in the military. I hope to get into an area of work which the Air Force calls area specialist code. Individuals are trained and educated in the military, cultural, economic, political and social aspects of particular area of the world. They then work in advisory capacity. That work appeals to me right now.

I believe in the military. I think it is sad that our armed services are held in diminishing regard in this country.

Our country can't survive without a strong military force. Like it or not, military action is an extension of politics and a country's well-manned military force in terms of quality as well as quantity.

By eliminating beat "De Natura Sonoris" - the conductor indicates entrances and sound levels, for example, but not pulse - Penderecki eliminated melody, counterpoint and conventional harmonic organization, all of which depend on a regular rhythmic structure for definition. Transfer factor, or TF. is a biochemical separated from the blood of a person with normal defense mechanisms, called immune mechanisms. In research on a number of diseases, injection of TF into a patient has resulted in conferring on that patient the normal re-sponses of the donor for six months to two years.

TF thus retains the memory of its function in the donor after it is transfered to the patient with defective immune mechanisms, restoring normal functioning.
Some diseases caused by congenital defects in children's immunity systems have been successfully treated by injections of TF. This work has been performed in a number of laboratories and clinics around the country, according to Dr. H. Sherwood Lawrence of the New York University School of Medicine, discoverer of TF.

The cancer-TF research team believes the first cancer cells to form in normal people are probably destroyed by white blood cells.

In fact, some researchers think the human body is repeatedly challenged by cancers, but that a well-functioning immunity system continually mounts a defensive barri-

The theory holds that patients recovering from serious bouts with the disease had their immunity systems damaged by the cancer or weakened by radiation or chemical therapy. Cancer recurs because all the malignant cells were not eradicated during treatment and natural defenses are unable to prevent their spread.

Used in 'shock' cases Artificial lung feeds blood

By BEN ZINSER Medical-Science Editor

An artificial lung has provided long-term, lifesaving support for a total of six persons suffering from a highly lethal form of respiratory failure, medical researchers reported in the Southland Friday.

The lung, a circulation assistance device known by various terms such as the Bramson lung or the Lande-Edwards machine, is a membrane oxygenator, an instrument that puts oxygen in a patient's blood and then returns the blood to the body.

Details of research performed to date were described by scientists attending the annual meet-ing of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of California in Newporter Inn, New-

The condition for which the device is usually used is known as acute respiratory insufficiency, sometimes called shock lung. This is a complication that may follow severe injury

But the lung aid also has saved the life of a 33year-old woman suffering from Goodpasture's syndrome, a disorder characterized by kidney trouble and bleeding in the lungs.

How membrane oxygenator spared this victim was reported to doctors by Philip A. Drinker, Ph. D., Boston, principal associate in surgery (bioeWgineering) at Harvard medical school. Drinker is the son of the inventor of the original "iron lung," the Drinker respirator.

When surgeons removed a transplanted kidney from the patient, lung bleeding stopped, and she was then placed on a "bypass" - circulatory assist by a membrane oxygena-

Drinker said the patient received support from the device for 11 days.

The patient, a singer, survived and resumed her singing career, Drinker said. Dr. J. Donald Hill, San Francisco, clinical re-search member of the Heart Research Institute there, reported that several patients with acute respiratory insufficiency have been maintained on an oxygenator for as long as 10 days.

But use of the bypass procedure for only three or four days will tide many patients through a respiratory crisis, he said.

He predicted that the technique will be used when lung transplantation is finally perfected since such patients may suffer oxygen deficit soon after transplant surgery. Most of the research now being conducted with the membrane oxygenator is taking place at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital and Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, the National Heart Institute in Bethesda, Md., and Pacific Medical Center in San Francisco, according to Hill.

The device consists of a membranes in a box-like container. Hill says the multilayered lung semipermeable membranes resembles stack of pizzas."

Poverty definition

U.S. recomputing measure of 'poor'

By BILL KOVACH

WASHINGTON - A ederal interagency committee is quietly examin ing the possibility of doing away with federal use o ie word "poverty" and come figures used to define the poor.

The study, which is expected to produce alternative approaches to the at the top level of the the next several weeks, reflects a long standing concern within the administration. Both in 1970 and in 1971, similar studies were undertaken after census figures from 1970 indicated that the number of poor people in the country had begun to climb again after a decade of gradual decrease.

The first, in 1970, was met with public ridicule as critics of the adminis tration charged that there was an effort to "end poverty with a stroke of poor out of existence. A similar study in 1971 also failed to produce an alter-

THE CURRENT study however, appears to be less directed at whether a new definition is needed than to examining what elements should be included in a definition. The current official definition of poverty is such that it applies to a nonfarm family of four whose annual cash income is $4.137. Many critics of the current conand political, argue that it is unrealistic because it fails to include in the income ligure a number o! subsidies provided by the government, such as food stamps, subsidized housing and Medicaid.

"All we are trying to do," said the official involved in the examina-tion, "is to improve the meaning of the term." As for the term itself, this same source said, "poverty is a value-laden, highly politicized word and that's not the kind of word we like. We would like a less value-laden concept like income distrior some other word devoid of emotional compli

THE CENSUS Bureau already has replaced the word poverty in its re-ports with the phrase "low income level." Statisticians at the Census Bureau have yet to be included in the discussions, but one official there said it was "entirely possible" that a new defi nition of poverty could be included in a poverty survey now underway. Although information for the Census Burcau's annual report on income levels already has been collected, use of a new definition of poverty in analysis of this informa tion could produce a different statistic for the number of those officially accepted as poor.

Low cover landscaping

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Ground covers serve many landscape uses. They may be used as substitutes for lawns, to cover bare soil areas or slopes. They also are used for their colors. Some fairly lowgrowing ground covers are used as edging plants along a walk, driveway or a narrow space between a path or driveway and house or garden wall.

Some ground covers like Algerian ivy, Prostrate Rosemary, Trailing lantana and Osteospermum, Santolina, grow to about two feet tall, others are lower growers, and a few grow from an inch on up to a foot GAZANIAS and Arctotheca flower nearly the year around. Of the two types of medium size plants (a foot or so) high, Hybird Gazanias require less frequent watering. The single daisy-like blossoms, in colors of orange, pink, yellow, white, or clear yellow with blackring-eye center, love all the sunshine they can get. Teh blossoms don't open on cloudy days. They are adaptable to dry soil conditions. Water them only as they really thirst, and then no more until they need it again. Keep them constantly moist, and they develop lush leaves but produce few flowers. The hybird gazanias don't creep but are individual plants. They should be planted close together to form a ground cover.

There are two other sun-loving perennials that flower off and on the year round. They are Dianthus Rose Marie, and Gerbera the Transvaal Daisy. Both are fussy as to planting requirements. They are not ground covers but should be planted in the flower bed.

DIANTHUS Rose Marie with nearly single-shape, rose color (slightly pinks) doesn't like water standing around its trunk. Rot sets in at soil line if constantly moist. Carnation and Sweet William both belong to the same family as the D. Rose Marie. Rootball top should be a quarter of an inch above the soil surface. The prepared soil is sloped from the top of the rootball edge down to ground level. Poke your finger into the firmed soil, about half inch deep, and water the plants in that furrow. There should be enough running water in the furrow to soak the whole planted area.

The swollen crown area of the Gerbera, from where the leaves and flower stalks grow, should be above the soil area. Plants whose crowns are covered by soil develop stunted foliage, shorter flower stems and small, mostly distorted blossoms. They love all the sun they can get, need thorough drinks of water but don't like constant dampness. They aren't happy near a lawn or where walks or driveways are washed several times a week. Feed them at monthly intervals for best flowering results. The plants are available in single or double form flowers. The bright colors range from tones of red, pink, orange, rose, yellow, and white. They are excellent perennial plants, if grown as LET'S sprinkle our flower discussion with a most unusual group of annuals, the Nugget Marigolds called MULE Marigolds. They are earliest of all, constantly blooming. The flowers are bigger than French Marigold. Burpee's catalog states, "the Mule marigolds are triploid hybrids. They are crosses between the big American Marigolds and the little French. Because the Little French ones have twice as many chromosomes as the big Americans, they can't mate normally. The resulting chromosomes are out of balance. That makes them mules and like the mule animal they can't reproduce themselves. But, like all living things they try to do so. They keep on blooming and blooming, but don't go to seed. These triploids are the earliest blooming of all Marigolds. To get more seeds of the triploids we have to cross the original American and French Marigolds each year, just the same as you would have to cross a jackass with a mare each time to get a mule.

LINIC FOR PLANTS

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

When we bought our place a year ago, inherited two established camellia bushes which I would gues to be 10 to 15 years old. I tried to take good care of them. I fed them commercial azaleascamellia food according to the instructions on the box. I watered them deeply but not too frequently, I picked off all but one bud at the end of each branch. But alas, the results are not what we had hoped. The salmon pink flowered bush has many buds, but they do not open com-pletely. The edges of the petals turn brown and the flowers fall without ever opening to a full blossom. The pink striped white blossoms on the other bush do open completely, but the petals seem limp instead of firm and waxy. The edges of their petals also turn brown and the blossoms fall to the ground before they should. These shrubs are shady exposure. I planted King Alfred jonquils and Dutch Irish in the same general area. These blossoms, too, turned brown and withered long before they should have. Each blossom lasted only a day. So, do you think they have some horrible disease, or are these poor babies suffering from lack of sunshine? I'm so disappointed. Mrs. Edwin Wood,

Long Beach. First of all, if the plants are growing in a narrow or confined area, or in a lawn or in part of the lawn, they probably don't get enough deep watering. They should be watered as far out as two feet beyond the drip line. They should be soaked three feet deep. Place a pound coffee can helfway be-tween the trunk and two fect outside the drip line. Put a "fountain spray" sprinkler on the garden hose. Place the sprinkler three feet away from the coffee can. Check the

An inch of water on porous, sandy soil probably percolates down about 10 inches. The same amount soaks down perhaps six inches ln loamy soil, whereas one inch of water in hard clay soil perhaps soaks in two inches. Multiply the time it took to get one inch by the total number of inches needed for the ratio to penetrate down three feet deep. You'll have to know whether your soil is percus-sandy, learny, or clay. That time involved is for one side of the camella. It will need an equal time on theother side too. Thereafter (but not too often) irrigate each plant for that period of time. THE NEW TRAVEL GROUP CHARTERS. YOU CAN END UP GOING NOWHERE FOR A COUPLE OF HUNDRED DOLLARS.

Within the past few months, you might have seen some travel ads quoting unbelievably low prices for vacation packages to Hawaii, Mexico or Europe. No, they're not misprints.

They're "Travel Group Charter" packages. And they take effect on June 1, 1973.

Can they save you money?

Perhaps. So you might be tempted to take advantage of them. But you should also be aware that there are a lot of catches to these packages. The upshot of it all being that you can plunk down a couple of hundred dollars (maybe a lot more) for a package with air and ground arrangements, and end up going absolutely nowhere. And it's all perfectly legal.

YOU MUST MAKE YOUR DOWN PAYMENT 90 DAYS IN ADVANCE.

All reservations must be made at least 90 days in advance of departure. At that time, you must sign a contract and pay 25% of the total cost of the trip. Those are a few of the "musts."

Would you be interested in a few of the "can'ts"?

First, you can't be assured of leaving when you want to leave. The departure date must be established at least 3 months ahead. Right off, that means the earliest you could leave would be about July 1.

Second, you cannot choose the date you want to return. That's also automatically set 3 months ahead.

Third, under no conditions can you switch planes to extend your stay. Do you still want to go?

60 DAYS AHEAD YOU MUST PAY THE BALANCE.

Two months ahead of departure, you must pay the balance of the "estimated" cost of the trip. Two full months ahead.

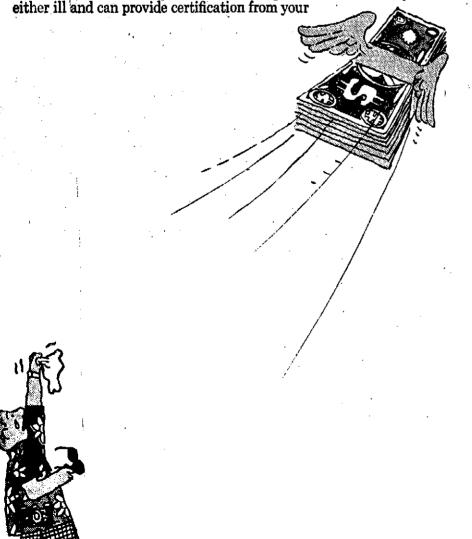

Fifteen days later-45 days before you leave-the charter operator will determine what the adjusted price of the trip will be. Only then will you know the exact fare.

That price could be as much as 20% more than the "estimate" you were originally quoted. Of course it could also be less than the original estimate. As much as 20% less.

It all depends on the final number of seats sold. If the adjusted price is higher, you will be required at this point to make up any difference. If it is lower, the charter operator will send you a prorated refund. Okay, now you've paid in full. Forty-five days before you leave.

CANCEL? WELL MAYBE-

Suppose you want to cancel. Can you? Maybe. Provided that you inform the charter operator of your intentions, at least 45 days in advance of departure and that (1) you're doctor to prove it or (2) your ticket can be assigned to a qualified standby applicant. (Cross your fingers, because your replacement must be drawn from a standby list established 90 days before departure.)

Now, even if he does find a qualified standby, the charter operator can still charge you a 5% fee for the "transfer."

Any later than 45 days advance notice of cancellation, and you're virtually out of luck.

If your boss switches your vacation, or if you miss the plane, no refund. No way. Under no circumstances, unless the charter is cancelled for everyone.

45 DAYS AHEAD THEY CAN CANCEL ON YOU.

As you can see, it's extremely difficult for you to cancel out on the Travel Group Charters.

But can they cancel the charter on you? Easy.

Forty five days ahead of departure, if not enough tickets have been sold, the charter operator must cancel the trip.

The operator, of course, will give you a full refund...if that's any consolation.

WHEN A SAVINGS ISN'T A SAVINGS.

With all the advance planning and uncertainties involved, you might well ask yourself if the small amount of money you can potentially save on a Travel Group Charter is really worth the effort.

Especially when you consider this:

Say Hawaii is your destination. Well, if you're like 60% of the visitors, you're going to want to see more of Hawaii than just Oahu. You're going to want to visit some of the Neighbor Islands. Like Maui, Kauai and Hawaii.

Can you do this if you flew over to Hawaii on a Travel Group Charter?

Only by paying the full inter-island airfare. And if you hop to more than one island, your Charter won't save you much of anything. However, if you're holding a roundtrip ticket on Western Airlines, you can take maximum advantage of what is known as a "Common Fare" and for a flat $9 per island, see as many of the other islands as you like. Look.

COST OF INTER-ISLAND FLI	GHTS.
	Full-Fare for TGC passenger	Common Fare available to Western passenger
Honolulu-Kauai-Maui-Honolulu	$63.00	$27.00
Honolulu-stop in Maui-Hilo	31.40	18.00
Honolulu-Maui-Honolulu	. 38.00	9.00

That's another of the disadvantages of the Travel Group Charters. And there are more. All of which are good reasons for buying your ticket to Hawaii on Western Airlines.

TAKE A LOOK AT HOW WESTERN COMPARES.

If you fly Western, you don't have to plan your trip 90 days ahead. Or sign a contract. Or come up with a 25% down payment three months before you leave. You don't have to pay the balance of your trip two months before you leave.

And Western offers a wide choice of packages, too. Compare them with the packages the Travel Group Charters are advertising, and see how much you get for your money with Western. Here's just one example.

COST VIA WESTERN AIRLINES—INCLUDING TAX, SERVICE, IN-FLIGHT MEALS, MOVIES & STEREO - NO HIDDEN CHARGES (Los Angeles-Hawaii)

8-DAY, 7-NIGHT MAGIC WEEK includes: Accommodations in the heart of Waikiki . Floral lei greeting . Transfers . Baggage handling • One-day U-drive car (you pay mileage only) • Admission to the Polynesian Cultural Center • Admission to the Hawaii Experience.

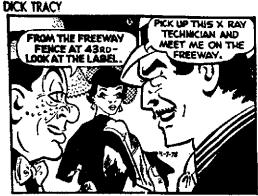

Package price, per person, double occupancy $ 70.00 Western's roundtrip Group-40 mid-week Coach fare 179.00

With Western's group fares, you only need to pay 10 days before departure. And you can cancel your trip any time up to 7 days before departure without losing a cent, providing there are a minimum number of people remaining in the group. And you can cancel any time before departure when you have purchased air transportation only.

What's more, if you're the sort of traveler who likes to travel alone yet wants to have such things as hotels and sightseeing pre-arranged, Western offers a variety of packages, too.

Finally, only Western offers the fabulous Islander service to Hawaii. With Polynesian style entrees, exotic beverages, and free movies and stereo in First Class and Coach. Plus, of course, Western's famous First Class Legspace during that 5-hour flight to Hawaii. Won't you think it over? We think you'll fly Western.

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY:
The emotional side of your nature reaches greater maturity this year — perhaps not smoothly or in tranquility. Today's natives need definite encouragement, do better in large family units.
Artes (March 21-April 19): Sharing in community observances helps by taking you away from an old issue, giving others a chance of resolving it.
Taurus (April 20-May 20): A compatible companion and a quietly adventurous journey are all you need for a successful Sunday.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Intellectual stimulation arises from almost any of the passing conditions of this Sunday. Lasting change is unlikely.

New rabies vaccine found for dogs, cats

WASHINGTON UP1 . A new, safe vaccine to protect puppies and kittens from rables has been developed and licensed for general use, the Agriculture Department announced Friday.

The vaccine was said to provide "high levels of potency along with a high degree of safety and freedom from side effects." It is manufactured by its developer, Douglas Pharmacal Industries, Inc., Lenexa, Kan., the department said.

Licenses to make animal vaccines are issued by the Animal and Plant Inspection service in the department. Officials say it may be several weeks the vaccine is widely available.

The new vaccine, made from rables virus grown in brain tissue taken from suckling mice, may be administered only by veternarians, the department said.

"Puppies and kittens should be vaccinated at three months of age, or revaccinated then if they were vaccinated earlier," officials said. "Vaccination should be repeatedly yearly."

It's difficult to tell how far away the car is until it passes a tree or boulder whose distance is known. Astronomers have established no such guideposts.

THE DISCOVERY of the new quasar is expected to renew the debate among scientists who do not believe in the "big theory, including those who think the universe is in a steady state.

counselors.
"That's the way was," he says. "Salt and pepper. I didn't talk one way here and another way there. I said I was against apartheid and racial separation, that I've been for integration for many years, and believe it's the only way a society can be healthy."

The story of the meeting included this: "Dr. Graham said 'It is my hope that hearts, minds and relationships will be changed as a result of what we see here today." This was a clear reference to the multi-racial gathering. He said Christ was not a White man, nor a Black man, 'Christianity is not a White man's religion. It belongs to all people.' SOME CHURCHES have put on their bulletin boards posters which say that CBS Television intends to run X-rated movies, unless they hear many protests. The California Southern Baptist, official state paper for the nation's largest single Protestant denomination, advises its churches that Pentecostals, at least one Southland church has this information is false, that CBS has announced taken steps to provide for no such plans.

The Baptist paper says there is plenty to worry about and take issue with on television, but that reactions to false information can only hamper effective. constructive exercise of public opinion.

SIXTY SCHOLARS of the Roman Catholic, Southern Baptist and Jewish faiths, in a three-day "trilogue" in Nashville, touched on the same problem of television and called for the establishment of a "rating system by all segments of the media for movies on television, to assist parents in exercising moral judgment over what comes into their homes as an influence over their children.'

On Key 73, the national Christian evangelistic drive which has drawn a little flack from some Jewish leaders, the joint communique said: "We welcome and are encouraged by the program and purpose of Key 73 to revitalize the faith of Christians on this continent. At the same time, we wish to express the caution and hope that Key 73 will avoid offending the religious heritage of nonported trying to work out Christians, and avoid any temptation to make targets of non-Christian faith

THE GABRIELSONS Rev. Milton, Alice, Dorothy Honor 'Mr. Bay Shore

> Church,' retiring soon 📐 Sunday will be an historic day at Bay Shore Community Church, 5100 The Toledo. A commemorative dinner at 6 p.m. will mark the 38th anniversary of the ministry of Rev. Milton G. Gabriel-son, who will formally retire as pastor next month to assume the role of pastor emeritus. A special service will follow at 8, to which all are invited.

The Gabrielsons have become synonymous with the unusual church in Belmont Shore. When the youthful minister arrived in 1935 with his wife Dorothy, who was also trained theologically at Pacific School of Religion, it was a bankrupt little church, with 17 members. The present plant is valued at more than a million dollars and is free and clear of indebtedness.

Well in advance of the ecumenical spirit and lack of narrow denominationalism which marks modern the United Church of Christ, Gabrielson stressed a philosophy of reconciliation, which is reflected in the thriving membership at Bay Shore, with folks from more than 30 denominational backgrounds.

His other major emphasis has been on pre-marital training and counseling, in which he pioneered with the first churchrelated counseling clinic in the Southland. Thousands of area couples recall being counseled by him on lasting marriage.

Mrs. Gabrielson started the church library and has been librarian for 20 years. She also designed the stained glass window in the sanctuary. Daughter Alice Gabrielson, a Long Beach native educated at Cal State and USC, is on the college library staff. As pastor emeritus, Rev. Gabrielson plans to continue to live in Long Beach, and to continue his counseling work.

In February, he was honored as "Minister of the Year" for 1972 by the Long Beach Area Council of Church's Spotlight Award Banquet

TV 'jury' votes for amnesty

Tabulation to date of viewers' response to a TV courtroom drama dealing with the issue of amnesty for self-exiled draft resisters of the Vietnam war shows 70.9 per cent in favor of amnesty and 29.1 per cent opposed, the Broadcasting and Film Commission of the National Council of Churches has disclosed.

At the end of the hourlong drama, "Duty Bound," aired Sunday, March 11 by NBC-TV, viewers learned they were the "jury." They were invited to mail their verdicts of "guilty," (not in favor of amnesty), or "not guilty," (in favor of amnesty), to the Commis-

As of this date 2,560 verdicts have been tabulated, with 1,814 amnesty and 746 opposed. Sorting is by geographic area, with all areas to date favoring amnesty. Tabulation is continuing, with a final accounting to be presented later.

Scheduled for the air on Sunday, June 3 is an NBC Religious Special followup of the original TV drama, which was written by Emmy award winner Allan Sloane. The final tabulation will be given in the follow-up program; implications of the verdict discussed and some of the issues related to amnesty often scary business of ringing strange doorbells? 'They were enthused when they came back here," the chaplain replied. "Some of them had been leery of going door to door before they started. But they had mostly good experiences.

The volunteer groups from each church are broken up, and each person is coupled with a stranger from another church. Piirto rates this a good idea, seeing it as a broadening experience to work with someone from another Christian background. What the team of two does, he explained, is to visit each home on the assigned block, passing out the packet, which is entitled "Good News for Southern California." When folks aren't home, they leave it on the doorknob with a rubberband.

When they are home, the couple chats with them, tells them a bit about Key 73, and invites them to take part in a neighborhood Bible study group. Names and phone num-bers are taken of those interested.

The campaign, Chaplain Piirto says, is not "hard sell" in tone.

"It's more low key. Not the approach of here's the answer, period."

Any unusual incidents? There was one, the chaplain chuckled, not quite describable for a family newspaper, involv-oblivious to the evangelists at the door, who discreetly left the material and departed.

"Some people were suspicious, they wanted to know what will this cost me. In that respect, there's an easier atmosphere in Navy housing project than in the general community, we found, they're not bombarded by so many peddlers." "One of our men said some Jehovah's Witnesses had been around to this particular house talking to the occupant. The occupant asked right away 'How do you people stand on military service to the country?' Our man answered 'I guess I stand OK on it, I've been in it for sixteen years."

Are there any teenagers?

"We had two teens the first Sunday, and two more last week, four this time. Some of the other churches had youngsters too. They were a good mixed group, in all ways. Apart from everything else, it's a shot in the arm getting together this way with the other churches."

A mistake throw you?

Slumped in despondency bordering on despair, a 29-year-old man sat in my office. "Why did I do it?" he kept asking. "How could I make such a terrible mistake? How's that for stupidity? I had the opportunity of a lifetime and I blew it! My future has cracked up, and I don't mean maybe."

He was fired from a good position, so he told me, for making one serious mistake. Strange that a company would discharge a man for one mistake; perhaps, I thought, he had made others. In any case the poor fellow felt that his career was shattered beyond repair. "Sure," I agreed, "it's a tough break. But maybe instead of griping you need to re-think your philosophy of mistakes. Everybody makes mistakes."

I REMINDED HIM that a person learns and grows by trial and error. It just isn't in the cards that anybody should get by forev-er without making mistakes and perhaps sometimes making costly ones. Men who really achieve are those who take hold of themselves when they have slipped, derive some new know-how, accept the consequences, pick up the pieces and get going.

Indeed, overzealousness to avoid mistakes can actually work against success. I know of one great captain of industry who

Do you set a Christian example for your children? your children love you, they will want to be in your home. They will find joy and instruction there. Do you set the example of warship for your children? If we are children of God. will want to be Father's House. This will set the example for our children, as Jesus set the example for us. had the curious policy of deliberately pushing younger men into situations where they would be forced . to handle unfamiliar problems without benefit of instruction from higher up. He wanted to know if a man had the nerve to risk making a mistake. Lacking that courage, he would not be considered for an executive position on the ground that excessive cautiousness marked a man as indecisive. I pointed out to the dejected young man that some mistakes originate from something wrong in one's thinking, others are simply due to inexperience. When you repeatedly make the same mistake or when everything you do turns out wrong, then it is a fair assumption that you yourare wrong, or mistake-prone.

The important thing is to profit from mistakes. Just as we may learn from our successes (how to do it) so also can we learn from our mistakes (how not to do it).

"So when you have made a mistake," I told my friend, 'see what know-how it can teach you and then charge it up to experience and try again." Then I happened to think of an editorial written years ago by Grove Patterson, an Ohio newspaper editor, entitled "Water Under the Bridge." I had a hunch that it could be helpful to this young man. So I read it aloud to him.

"A boy a long time ago leaned against the railing of a bridge and watched the current of the river below. A log, a bit of driftwood, a chip floated past. Again the surface of the

He had discovered an idea. Quite suddenly, and yet quietly, he knew that everything in his life would some day pass under the bridge and be gone like the water.

"THE BOY CAME to like those words water under the bridge. All his life thereafter the idea served him well and carried him through. Although there were days and ways that were dark and not easy, always when he had made a mistake that couldn't be help-

Several packages of juicy looking steaks, allegedly bought at Safeway supermarkets, were placed on the witness table as evidence at a hearing conducted by the state Senate Subcommittee on Nutrition and Human Needs, investigat-ing high meat prices.

CHAIRMAN George R. Moscone, D-San Francis-co, said if the charge was proved correct, new laws are needed.

Kenneth Doyle, identified as an investigator for the Interfaith Committee to Aid Farm Workers, said Safeway upgraded rib steaks to club steaks, club steaks to T-bone, and T-bone to porterhouses. He charged this was meant to increase the food chain's profits.

The Interfaith Committee to Aid Farm Workers is a co-defendant in Safeway's $150 million suit against the United Farm Workers Union. The suit in part alleges the UFW harasses customers in an attempt to force the chain to buy UFW lettuce.

The Rev. Fred Eyster. named with Doyle as codefendant in the Safeway suit, said he is director of the "consumer fraud division" of the Interfaith Committee. He charged that "Safeway, the nation's leading retailer of beef, is engaged in fraudulent and deceptive meat labeling practices."

In a telephone interview, Safeway Board Chairman Quentin Rey-nolds said of the upgrading charges, "We'll deny that. Its the first I've heard of it. These are just some more of their dirty tactics they have been engaged in for sometime."

REYNOLDS SAID that at any given time in a Safeway supermarket there are perhaps up to 2,000 packages of meat on display and that it was possible that "two or three packages" among them could be subject to eritieism.

He said Safeway, as other markets, has a turnover problem and that it could take up to three weeks for personnel to learn how to identify cuts of meat.

Felicia Del Campo of the Safeway public rela-tions office, said, "this is just another effort by the Interfaith Committee and the UFW in their demand that Safeway and other food companies handle charts showing various only UFW lettuce."

down a supply convoy ferrying needed supplies up the Mekong River to the encircled Cambodian capital

The ships and barges, loaded with ammunition, petroleum and food, were assembled on the river just inside South Vietnam Friday and were to begin the 60-miles voyage to the embattled capital this morning.

THE CAPTAINS, contacted by radio this morning, said, however, there would be a "minimum 17-hour delay" in the launching of the long-awaited relief convoy.

They said Vietnamese Naval authorities had ordered them to remain at anchor in the port city of Tan Chau, a two-hour sail from the frontier, until shortly before dawn Sunday because of heavy riverside combat inside Vietnam.

Dozens of American fighter jets flew over the combat area Friday in an attempt to provide blanket air cover escort for the convoy during the dangerous passage through Communist-held waters, but the bombers returned to their bases in was given to lawyers for the Nixon campaign on Tuesday, two days before he was granted immunity from further prosecution.

Since he had not then been granted immunity, McCord declined to discuss any matters dealing with the Watergate — citing the 5th amendment on one instance when asked if he had tape-recorded any conversations while working for the Nixon eampaign.

MUCH OF the 145-page deposition dealt with his background as an agent first for the FBI and later with the CIA; and routine descriptions of his security work for the campaign. He refused adamantly to answer a routine question about his telephone number, which he said is now unlisted.

"There have been threats, bomb threats. against my family ...," he said. "There have been forms of harassother ment. We have had to change the phone numbers for that reason ... My family fears for its life."

supervision of the County Registrar of Voters at 10:30 p.m., totals showed that of 195,064 eligible voters, only 19,492 cast ballots. Average voter turnout for elections in the districts - encompassing Long Beach, Signal Hill, Avalon and about 60 per. cent of Lakewood - has been about 15 per cent over the last 20 years.

Mrs. Jackson, a housewife active in civic affairs with youth groups and senior citizens, received 4,021 votes, according to the unofficial, final count. Holley, entering Long Beach State University after having attended Long Beach City College while working as a newscaster for Long Beach cable television, drew 3,801 votes.

Both Mrs. Wallace and Zarifes, 41-year-old Long Beach attorney, express-ed gratitude to their sup-

"I'M GRATEFUL to the voters of our communities for this vote of confidence in our schools," Mrs. Wallace said in a prepared statement. "This is more than a victory for two candidates. It is a victory for the programs and policies of the Long Beach Unified School District and the Long Beach Com-munity College District." Zarifes, in a similar statement, thanked "all who have by their votes and their hard work helped to assure the continuance of quality education in Long Beach, Lakewood, Signal Hill and Avalon."

District officials said final vote totals are expected to vary slightly with adjustments in the count of absentee ballots. The County Registrar of Voters' office will release final, official vote totals "some time next week," they added.

Brande pale but fit Gala welcome for POW hero

Green Beret M. Sgt. Harvey Gordon Brande, looking pale but fit after five years in Viet Cong prison camps, arrived home in Long Beach Friday to the cheers and good wishes of 3,000 persons gathered on the site of his alma mater, Jordan High School.

No sooner did the recently released risoner of war step onto the school's football field than the throng rose to its feet and tendered him a thunderous ova-

Brande, who had left Jordan 20 years ago, had himself been a member of the ROTC when he joined the regular army at 17. Born in Salt Lake City, Brande was raised in Long Beach.

In Feb., 1968, while serving with a Green Beret airborne unit, he was "lost in action" in a battle at Long Vei.

For the next five years he was listed as missing in action. It wasn't until last February that Brande's mother learned he was alive.

Brande has said he tried twice to escape — once en route to his own execu-tion. He also said he experienced numerous beatings and some torture at the hands of his captors.

Wearing his Green Beret uniform Friday, the sergeant waved and shook hands with friends and strangers in front of the home of his sister, Mrs. Alan Ferguson of 251 Platt.

He told reporters that he feels well and added that coming home was "like stepping into a new world.

Everything is different," he said. "clothes, cars, people's attitudes and hair styles."

In a ceremony in front of Mrs.

Ferguson's house, the returned GI was presented with a street sign bearing the name Brande. City Councilman Russell Rubley, who coordinated the welcoming program, made the presentation and said Pratt Street, which is five blocks long, would soon be renamed in honor of the Green Beret.

At the school, Brande was personally greeted by Jordan principal Dr. Milton Edwin Wade, State Assemblyman Bill Bond and City Councilmen Bert Bond, E. F. "Ted" Cruchley and James Wilson.

Carmelitos project phase-out opposed

The co-chairman of an organization called the Long Beach Housing Consortium Friday urged offi-cials to spare the Carmelitos Housing Project because it is cheaper to save the project than to close it.

Harold McFarland spoke in response to Supervisor James Hayes' announcement Thursday that he had "tacit agreement" of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to phase out the North Long Beach low-rent housing project. Hayes has recommended closure of the facility, which he describes as "a pure and simple slum."

McFarland said Carmelitos tenants are working diligently to solve their own problems, which he conceded are great but not beyond solu-

"We believe it is cheaper to save the project than to close it,"McFarland said. "We are concerned about the unsafe living conditions and the 103 empty units, which have been vandalized."

McFarland said the consortium was formed about six months ago and was comprised of "30 private and public agencies which help poor people in various ways." He did not identify the agencies.

McFarland took issue with Hayes' statement that "32 (Carmelitos) tenants owe more than $25,-000 in back rent."

"If 32 families are participating in a rent strike, that leaves 579 families who are paying their rent," he said. "Although Supervisor Hayes says it can be done, we do not be-lieve that these people can be rehoused in Long Beach."

Two classes in safe motorcycle operation, one for high school students and one for adults, will start next week with Long Beach police motorcycle officers as instructors.

The classes are sponsored by the Long Beach Safety Council, in cooperation with the Long Beach school district and the Police Department.

"This is the finest motorcycle program in the United States," said Charles Smith, managing director of the Safety Council. The course covers both classroom instruction and actual riding. It is taught by Motor Officers Bob Smith

The class for adults will begin next Friday. Classroom instruction will be given Fridays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., and the riding session will be on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon. The course lasts four weeks.

Trainees must be at least 18 years old. The high school class, for boys and girls aged 14 through 17 years, will begin next Saturday, and will be held each Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. for four weeks. Parental consent is required for the high-school class.

Instruction for both classes will be at Long Beach City College's Business and Technology Campus, 1305 E. Pacific Coast Hwy. Classroom instruction will be in Motorcycles and helmets will be furnished for all students for the riding portion of the course. Because the classes are limited in size, pre-registration is recommended.

Pre-registration for the high-school class must be made by the student's parent or guardian, in person, at the Long Beach Safety Council, 121 Linden Ave. Registration for the adult class should be made at the Business and Technology Campus. The program is a basic course in safe techniques of motorcycle operation, safety habits and attitudes, and covers motor vehicle laws, care and maintenance of

Jack splats — four share Masters lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. Former champion Gay Brewer Jr. surged into a four-way tie for the second-round lead in the Masters with a six-underpar 66 Friday, but the big story was Jack Nicklaus who lost not only his fabled putting touch but apparently blew his cool, Brewer, the 1967 Masters winner who suffered a serious bleeding ulcer attack on the eve of last year's tournament; J.C. Snead, Bob Dickson Jr.

Tommy Aaron ali were deadlocked at 141, three under par for 36 holes.

Snead and Dickson had 71s Friday and Aaron a Nieklaus, the defending champion, four-time winner and pre-tournament favorite as usual, got the most attention as he struggled through one of the most dispirited rounds of his brilliant career to shoot a five-over-par 77.

That still left him well within striking distance for a man who has won more money than anyone else the game ever saw.

He was at 146, five shots off the pace.

Nicklaus, one of golf's finest putters, started off like he would make the tournament a runaway as everyone expected when he hit his second shot on the 400-yard first hole within 18 inches of the cup and routinely tapped in the putt for a birdie.

"It was all downhill from there," he wryly observed.

Big Jack three-putted the fourth, fifth and sixth greens in succession for bogeys, then took a double-bogey six at the 365-yard seventh hole generally considered a 'birdie" hole by the pros when he hooked his drive into trees and needed two shots to get the ball out.

"I didn't feel like 1 played all that badly," he said, entering the interview room with a long face. "All it was was my putter, really. I can't get confidence in my putter.'

Nicklaus was obviously tense and tight and highly annoyed.

"I'll go through my round, Charley," he snap-ped when a green-jack-

Masters eted started to interrupt as he went through the putting

"Let me finish this," he said through tight lips as a newsman interrupted his reply to a question.

He may have had reason. He was the victim of some jeers from the massive gallery that swarmed and streamed over the flower-bedecked Augusta National Golf Club course.

"Every time he made a bogey, the gallery following me was cheering,' Johnny Miller said.

Nicklaus "There's no reason in the world you couldn't break 70 today. The course played very easy. I just couldn't putt.'

When he was all through answering questions, he went out to do the same thing he always does after each of his rounds.

He went out to the putting green to pratice.

Arnold Palmer's evenpar 72 gave him a fiveover-par 149 after 36 holes as he sought to come back from an opening round 77, his worst start ever in the tournament he has

"The course was not as tough as it was yesterday," he said. "But I played a little better and that might have had something to do with it."

Palmer said he was startled by the tast greens on some holes.

Brewer, who had one of his best seasons last year when he returned to the tour following his illness, knocked nine strokes off his opening-round 75 and

Lakers lose Bull-fight in Chicago

CHICAGO - Coach Bill Sharman of the Lakers wasn't sure if he was watching football or basketball Friday night as the Chicago Bears ... er, Bulls, clawed out a 96-86 victory in a game that possessed about as much finesse as a street fight. In notching their first playoff win over the Lakers in two years and cutting their deficit in this series to 2-1, the Bulls employed, in Sharman's view, a no-holds-barred defense which would have made Dick Butkus proud.

'We got beat up physi-lly, "Sharman cried. cally, "They outmuscled, ran over, around and through us. Their theory is the half-hold, the half-bump, feeling that the refs can't call 'em ail.'

While the coach would prefer tighter control, he urged his players to "adjust to the situation." Whether or not they can fight fire with fire is doubtful, but they do possess a pair of football types in Wilt Chamberlain and Bill Bridges.

The fourth game of the series is Sunday at 1:25 (PST) and will be shown nationally on ABC, (chan-nel 7). The fifth game will be played in the Forum Tuesday night.

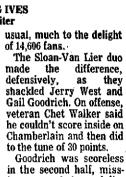

Chicago has been rapped before for its rough defensive tactics, but even if there is merit in the charges, the Bulls are willing to take as much physical abuse as they dish out. Jerry Sloan and Norm

Van Lier, the guards, play the game with passion and sometimes total disregard for their own personal safety. Sloan has hit the floor 23 times in this series and has drawn eight offensive fouls from the opposition. been

"Figure he's knocked down about 18 or 19 times and has drawn 8 charges," analyzed coach Dick Motta, "and you Dick Motta, "and you come up with a pretty good percentage in our behalf

Van Lier normally doesn't live so dangerously, but he took two bad spills Friday, earned a technical foul and drew six personals, the last one after the game was decided.

Sloan, Van Lier and Motta have tried to control their tempers since mid-season because they felt the rets were resenting it and perhaps getting even on calls. But Friday they were charged up and ing seven shots, and finished with 11 points fol-lowing 28 and 33-point per-formances in the first two games of the series. West had a more re spectable effort with 21 points and 13 assists, but he netted only one free throw in the fourth period, meaning neither he nor Goodrich had a basket in the final 12 minutes. One minute into the fourth stanza the Lakers trailed by only three points, 74-71, so the job Sloan and Van Lier did defensively was the primary reason the Bulls were able to notch only their second win over the Lakers in the last 17 games.

Lakers worked The hard on defense, too, but Chamberlain was restricted when he picked up his third foul after 13 minutes, and the Bulls managed to make some off-balance, under-pres-sure shots that don't normally fall in.

WALKER hit 10 of 19 shots and 10 of 11 free a wide reversal of his first two games where he sank 7 of 36 tries for a 194 mark.

"I moved pretty well tonight and they didn't get a chance to double-team me," said the 11 year veteran who had implored Motta to change the Bulls' offense because he felt that Chamberlain virtually nullified him as a scoring threat.

Walker had to eat his own words, but he did wiggle out by saying that center Dennis Awtrey "went to the offensive boards more and it made Wilt play a little more honest.' Perhaps Walker was right. Wilt got caught in between several times and Awtrey finished with 13 points. All six of his baskets were tip-ins or follow shots.

follow shots.
"Our forwards didn't block him off the boards,"
"Sharman explained. "I Sharman explained. "can't really blame Wilt."

Sharman can't really blame Wilt.

Chamberlain, incidentally, scored only one basket. He missed five shots, all under heavy pressure.

Robinson, tormented by two freak injuries during the spring which resulted in his coming to bat only seven times, made a dazzling debut as an Angel.

He hit the first pitch thrown to him by loser Steve Busby over the left field fence in the second inning. The drive traveled 382 feet.

The Angel triumph had a distinct Dodger flavor. Two other ex-O'Malley's who came to Anaheim in much-discussed November trade — Bill Grabarkewitz and Bobby Valentine --were key contributors.

Grabby, the well-known designated tongue, touched off a two-out, two-run rally in the third with a double. Valentine prompt-ly tripled him home and then scored on Vada Pinson's single for a 3-0 lead.

The erstwhile Dodgers, who call themselves "The Outlaws," had a spokesman in Valentine. When word came that the Dodgers had committed two errors in losing at San Diego, Valentine smiled and said, "How can they make two errors without President Nixon congratulated both Robinson and rookie manager Bobby Winkles after the game. "The ball you hit in the second inning won the game for us," the President informed Robby. "I like the way your players run on and off the field," he said to Winkles. Robinson was playing against the advise of club physician Dr. Jules Rasinski.

"He told me I shouldn't but I talked him into it,' Robinson said. Dr. Rasinski had one word of advise for Robby. "Hit a home run every time up so you don't have to run so hard," he said.

Padres win at S.D., 4-2

By GORDON VERRELL Staff Writer SAN DIEGO — Hold it!

Somebody turned back the clock on the Dodgers.

The Dodgers' 1973 National League opener Friday night at San Diego Stadium looked like a rerun of 1972.

The O'Malleys got good pitching from Don Sutton, sufficient hitting from Bill Russell, who had three hits, and Joe Ferguson, who homered, but they lost, 4-2, to the San Diego Padres before San Diego's fifth largest crowd — 32. 019.

The reason: a suspect infield.

The Dodger infield com-mitted two errors — the first one arriving at 9:14 p.m. (PST), for those who record such things — and there was another mental misplay. All it did was turn the game around.

It was a 1-1 game, a splendid pitching duel be-tween Sutton and the Padres' ace Clay Kirby, until the eighth inning.

Enzo Hernandez opened the eighth with a single, the seventh hit off of Sutton. Then John Grubb did the expected. He bunted. But he bunted right at first baseman Bill Buckner who fielded the ball and appeared to have an easy shot at Hernandez at second. But Russell, the shortstop, wasn't covering and when Buckner finally did throw, Hernandez beat the play. Two singles, an error on Russell and a walk followed and the Padres parlayed them into three runs and a victory.

"I thought he was going to cover third," Buckner said when asked about the "Buckner thought I was to go but to cover second, not third," manager Walter Alston said, offering his own explanation. In the opening game at least, the Dodgers' infield isn't much better than it was last year. Third base was guilty of 53 errors in 1972. Ken McMullen, who also fanned three times — twice with a runner at third booted one at third Friday evening. It was the O'Malleys' first error of the new season and it set a pattern for the mistake-ridden eighth inning. The Dodgers scordd first, in the fifth inning when Russell singled and came home on Manny Mota's single to center.

San Diego, which has won four of its five opening dates, squared the game in the sixth on consecutive singles by Hernandez, Grubb and Leron Sutton, the Dodgers' 19-game winner in 1972, was still strong entering the eighth but after Hernandez' single, the hotch-

WILT PLAYS BLOCKING BACK

Jordan High's big chance to knock off Moore League leader Millikan never got off the ground Friday night.

The Rams paraded 14 batters to the plate in the top half of the first inning, saw nine score and used that cushion to record a ragged 11-6 victory that was halted after six innings due to the league's 2½-hour time limit rule.

In other games Friday, Lakewood remained two games back of unbeaten Millikan, defeating Compton, 7-3. Friday night's opener at Blair saw Poly defeat Wilson for the second time this season, 10-3, Jordan, which had lost to Millikan only 1-0 in the first round, trailed 9-0 Friday night before the first at-bats.

The Rams took 31 minutes to do most of their damage as Doug Stokke, Jim Smith, John Shanholtzer, Rob Stowater and Tom Hicks knocked in runs.

COUGAR READY TO HIT. COOL $1 MILLION TODAY

To six of the competitors in the $125,000 San Juan Capistrano at Santa Anita today, victory will mean a $75,000 winner's purse and a place in Santa Anita history alongside the names of George Royal. Fiddle Isle and Quicken Tree. But if Cougar II wins it, he'll have earned a page in American turf lore all to himself.

Mary F. Jones' "Big Cat," already the top money-winning foreighbred this country has ever seen, can become thoroughbred racing's 11th millionaire by getting home first in the traditional mile and three-quarter closing-day feature at the Arca-

In six seasons of competition, which includes 43 trips to the post, the seven-year-old Chilean-bred has accumulated $926,391. Trainer Charlie Whitting ham, gunning for his sixth San Juan victory, named Bill Shoemaker aboard his start. The Cougar-Shoe combination captured the 1971 version of the race, defeating 1970 Horse of the Year Fort Marcy.

While Shoemaker recuperated from a broken hand suffered in a spill in late January, Laffit Pincay rode Cougar to victory in the $170,000 Santa Anita Handicap and then a disappointing third-place as the odds-on favorite in the $100,000 San Luis Rey

Two years ago, Cougar, with Shoemaker aboard, won over Fort Marcy while carrying 126 pounds. Last season, he failed to spot stablemate Practicante nine pounds in the marathon and was beaten by three-quarters of a length under 127 pounds, the same impost that he will carry today.

This year's San Juan is by no means an easy spot for Congar's million-dollar bid, convincing winner of the mile and one-half San Luis Rey Stakes. The Kentucky-bred son of French Stallion Herbager trounced Cougar by nearly 13 lengths at level weights that day, and will benefit from an eightpound swing in imposts for the longer San Juan.

Big Spruce breaks from the outside gate on the hillside-infield course under 119 and jockey Don Pierce, while the "Big Cat", reigning Santa Anita Handicap champion, is set to move from the six-

The field, which equals the smallest in the event's previous eight runnings as an invitational, also includes Hustler, Presidial, Cicero's Court, Mazus and Jumbo Jet.

Switching from the main track to the turf course proved no obstacle for Wingo Belle Fri. as she upset 3-5 favorite Impressive Style to register her third successive win.

With Bobby Nono in the saddle, the five-yearold speedster stalked the pace set by the public choice and then drew out to a one-length decision in the $14,000 Niarkos Purse.

Wingo Belle, whose two previous wins were at six-furlongs on the main track, ran the about six and one-half furlongs on the downhill turf course in 1:13 2/5 and returned $8.60, $3.20 and $2.40 as the second choice. Impressive Style paid $2.80 and $2.20, and Lady Debbie (inished third to pay $2.60.

Shecky Green in Derby trials

Associated Press Secretariat enters

Phase II of his Kentucky Derby program today when he races in the onemile Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct.

Meanwhile, Shecky Green will test the strength of his Derby credentials. Secretariat is an over whelming choice to win the $50,000-added Gotham. Only six 3-year-olds op-

Track nuts can make a preliminary diagnosis today when the nation's most talented teams appear on the same field for the first time this season.

Japanese investments grow in Southland, U.S.

Business-Financial Editor

Not many years ago an electrician, walking away from a pay booth at a huge apartment complex going up in Orange County, stopped and stared at his check. Until then, he did not know he was working for a Japanese building team, on a Japanese land development, all financed by the Bank of Tokyo.

A leading Chamber of Commerce spokesman at Santa Ana a few days later told his colleagues "this won't be the last of Japanese investment money you'll see, either."

He was right.

From time to time, reports have indicated that nation's growing investment activity in Southern California, but Business Week magazine has gone much further and revealed Japanese activity nationwide.

Interesting are such revelations as:

Soy sauce, long a staple of Japanese diet, will be produced in Wisconsin in a new factory built by Kikkoman Shoyu Company, Japan's leading soy sauce maker. Seventeen Japanese families have been relocated in Walworth, to teach American workers how to

In San Diego, Sony Corporation already is manufacturing tv sets.

Mitsui & Company has bought 3,400 acres of Washington timber land (for no amounced reason) and 30 acres across the Hudson from New York for its own docks and warehouses.

There are reports New York City is attempting to sell Japanese companies a slice of Staten Island for a containership terminal. The State of Georgia has offered to train workers for a new zipper plant in Macon, built by YKK Zipper USA, Inc., subsidiary of Toshidi Kogyo, world's largest zipper maker.

Add that to reports some trade unions in the U.S. are welcoming new investment from Japan and are urging Japanese auto makers to built plants here.

(Not only is Japanese investments earmarked for this country, but Sony plans manufacturing plants in Brazil and in England. A Japanese company in Brazil exported $2 million worth of orange juice last year— to Florida!)

So, loaded with dollars from Japan's swollen currency reserves. Japanese businessmen are plunging headlong into the role of multinational investors.

Buying stake

Japan's Mitsubishi Corp. is negotiating to buy a stake in Arizona's Bluebird copper mine.

The Japanese company seeks to invest $26 million in return for shares in Ranchers Exploration & Development Corp., of Albuquerque, N.M., owners of the mine, or in the mining property itself.

Ranchers would use the money, if the deal goes through, to expand output of the mine, which produced mearly 2.9 million tons of ore in 1971.

The proposal by the giant trading company is a departure from the past, reflecting Japan's stepped-up foreign investment drive, and a change from the old method of making an investment in an American mine in return for a long-term supply contract.

In the past, ores extracted from U.S. mines went only to Japan for its smelters. But Mitsubishi says it is considering selling the ore exclusively in the U.S. and other markets outside Japan.

Another eye

Australian wine-growers are turning their attention to the American market, which increased its purchases of their wines by five-fold in 1972.

"America is experiencing a boom in wine sales and is possibly the greatest potential market for us," ex-plains Ian H.C. Stewart, secretary of the New South Wales branch of the Wine & Brandy Federation.

In 1971, the use of Australian wines by Americans came to just $50,000 worth. Last year, the U.S. bought $250,000 worth of Australia's $4.8 million in wine exports and the estimate for 1973 is $500,000 in purchases

Now a giant wine producer, Australia ranks 17th among nations, turning out just 62-million gallons annually. But as Philippe Cottin, managing director of Baron Philippe de Rothschild S.A., says: "Outside of France, of course, the best places for growing wines are California and Australia.

And this potential is being increasingly regarded by Australians and by Americans as well. Reckitt & obnan, which owns New York's Widmer Wine Co., bought out South Australia's Orlando label and Philip Morris, Inc., acquired Lindeman Holdings for a sum one wine observer says is "a telephone number multi-

Beginning in June, California-based Denkmann & Co. will import 5,000 gallons each of red and white table wines produced by Penfold Wines Ltd. and Safe-way Stores is launching a $1.99 white wine known as Lexia from McWilliams Wines Ltd., of Sydney.

Scrawny beef

Consumer reaction to the recent spiral in food prices ranges from unhappiness to bitterness, except in the gourmet food stores, where it's shopping as usual.

The bitterness is particularly acute in the San Francisco Bay area, where food prices jumped 4.1 per cent in January alone, compared with the national average of 2.3 per cent. In fact, San Francisco prices were a staggering 27.8 per cent above the base year 1967, and 8.4 per cent higher than calendar year 1972.

"Anything I have to say would be unprintable," a disgusted J.P. Dowdall of the San Francisco county welfare department, said.

The director of social service programs declared, though: "A woman with a few kids living on $270 a month is already eating beans, week-old break, leftover vegetables, and maybe meat one time a week. The recent price hike just cuts out that many more meat meals."

One San Francisco housewife, Louise Stutsman, said, "We're doing everything we can with chopped meat. We've got a stewpot going all the time, and we've been eating cheese until it's coming out of our

In Los Angeles, Mrs. Fred Arnold, who stretches a family income of $5,200 a year, says her food budget has increased from $90 to $120 a month to feed her family of five. "I have to spend much more money to buy the same things," she laments. "You can't even eat chicken anymore for a reasonable price!"

In Chicago, secretary Mariorie Frank complains that quality is declining while prices are rising. "It's not just the rise in prices, it's the quality of meat, too, that is terrible. I've tried buying from wholesalers and chains, but it seems that they just sell more fat, gris-

A caller to this desk this week posed interesting questions: "Don't you know the best grades of beef are going to the big restaurants, and that cattle raisers gleefully culled out all the scrawny beef they had and ruickly shipped it to market while the high prices prevail? And don't you know that scrawny beef goes to the

INDUSTRY WEEK

Thievery goes up

Industry Week magazine says the $3.3 billion figure, recorded in 1971, is made up of $1.8 billion in thefts from manufacturing industries and $1.5 billion stolen while goods were being transported. For 1972, cargo losses were estimated at $2.6 billion.

While the trend is upward, not everybody will receive equal injustice outside the law. Companies that make bulky hard-to-carry goods will lose less than those that make small, easy-to-carry items, the magazine for managers pointed out.

Losses such as these occurred despite large expenditures made to fight crime. In 1970, more than $5.5 billion was spent in the U.S. for security equipment, policy, and security services.

The need for security in business and industry has become so great that scientists and technologists have developed an array of security devices sufficient to overwhelm the average mind.

FOR THE GUY who thinks he's a potential target there's now a vest that's not only bulletproof but washable. Among the other devices are a Stun Gun, detection mirrors, photo ID systems, driver's license guides (that show how to recognize phonies), books telling how shoplifters operate, electric wastebaskets which shred whatever's dropped into them, real television cameras, phony television cameras (which cost less, but don't help much if an intruder doesn't notice them or isn't camera shy), unbreakable riot glass, a chemical dis-pensing flashlight, cardkey systems. And more. One company is marketing a Bloodhound system

Business and industry, losing more than $3.3 billion that allows one vehicle to follow another electronically, annually to thieves, are becoming increasingly security using dials and audio signals to pinpoint where the using dials and audio signals to pinpoint where the subject is at all times.

> ANOTHER COMPANY HAS PERFECTED two human recognition systems called Pen-Lok and Traka-tron — "transponders" — that monitor the movement of people within specified boundaries.

Pen-Lok is a device that employs a binary coded pen and a solid state reprogrammable logic control panel within a door. Used in conjunction with the control panel, different pens can be programmed to open different doors, depending upon where an employee is authorized to travel.

Trakatron, the newer device, uses Trakapen but does more things better than the pen alone. Trakatron can follow everybody in a plant with a scanner which relays information to a television display unit. The movement of people can be monitored and controlled by giving each person a transponder built into a badge

The transponder permits the wearer to go wherever he's authorized to go but it will set off an alarm should he attempt to enter a hallway or door for which his pen is not programmed.

In addition to security devices, there are numerous agencies eager to provide expertise in handling security problems.

Most security experts agree that security problems usually call for consultation with security professions, "because inside men can't see the forest for the tress." But a company must first realize its security setup is

> The index remained unchanged in the latest week. A decline in the heavily weighted component of rail freight was partly offset by an increase in paperboard and steel, both of which rose substantially, to new records. Small gains were also posted in paper, electricity, and crude oil. Bituminous coal production fell sharply: alight declines occurred in autos, trucks, lumber, and intercity trucking.

Bonds seen back again

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (P-Bonds are back. Partly in reaction to the excesses of the performance race, billions of dollars of these traditionally conservative securities are being snapped up by individuals and pension funds.

The turn, which gradually has been gaining momentum since 1969, is in marked contrast to the heady days of the 1950s and 1960s, when anyone who sat on bonds when he could ride with stocks was considered a laggard.

Ironically, the turn came at about the same the turn time that message was being relayed to colleges and other nonprofit institutions by the Ford Foundation, which said they could protect themselves by becoming more aggressive, performended investors. performance

In effect, these institutions were told to get off their assets and to seek the bigger returns available in stocks. Backing this advice was a University of Chicago study showing equity invest-ments averaged 9 per cent between 1946-1964.

THEN came the 1969-70 market debacle in which many high flyers dived to earth, some so hard they haven't yet dug themselves out. The trend to bonds might already have begun, but the collapse of stocks added momentum. From 1946 to 1965, according to figures supplied by Channing Management Corp., the invest-ing public added almost no honds to their sayings. But purchases in 1969 exceeded sales by $5 mil-

Martin E. Segal, president of Wertheim Asset Management Service and an authority on pensions, notes that bonds in pension portfolios fell from 45 per cent in 1955 to 27 per cent in 1970, while stock holdings jumped from 30 per cent to 59 per cent.

Not only has the trend been arrested, but Segal now maintains that bonds yield as much as stocks. "A good bond portfolio under the care of a could come close to or equal the 50-year average yield of the stock market," he states flatly.

PENSION funds are for the long term, he explains. A sustainable yield is more important than a fluctuating yield, especially since annual costs are based on yield for the year. "If the return is volatile, your costs are volatile. One aspect of the revaluation of bonds is the development of bond funds-mutual funds with bond rather than stock year portfolios. Last investors bought more than $1 billion worth of them, a figure likely to be topped in 1973.

As an example of the trend, Channing began a bond fund a little more than a year ago and it already is larger at $36 million than its 25-year-old common stock fund.

The impetus is provided by recent studies of bond versus stock yields. A. G. Becker Co., an investment banker, found a select list of equity portfolios returned only 6.2 per cent in the years 1962-71, far below the 7.5 per cent return on some quality bonds available today.

ANOTHER Becker study showed that a managed bond portfolio, with dividends achieved a 41.9 per cent return from Sept. 30, 1969 to Sept. 30, 1972, while the top quartile of equity investments in the study returned 40.2 per cent.

Henry renard, Channing senior vice president, observes that with bond rates high and the life of bonds long, seemingly small changes in rates can produce enormous ef-

"A move from 7.5 per cent to 7.4 per cent can mean as much as 1 per cent in the price of a bond. In the case of a $100 million portfolio that means $100,000 a year. A 1 per cent yield increase, compounded over 20 years, generates an increase equal to 83 per cent of the initial capital."

Indicative of further market changes, Renard comments that "we don't just buy bonds and put them away. We pay much more attention to trad-

NEW YORK (#) - In the years 1950 to 1970, the average hours worked per employe declined by about one-half per cent a year, yet the output of workers rose 2.5 per cent a year. Less work, more

As a result of this greater production, the standard of living rose in the same period by about 2 per cent a year. And the rise would have been greater except that employers and employes opted for more leisure time.

Despite this evidence, showing productivity as the key to the materially fuller life, a great deal of misunderstanding exists. Some people have even inverted the meaning: They think it means more work for no greater reward.

This might seem surprising until you learn that even some of the experts aren't as thoroughly informed as they would like to be. Even the Commerce Department calls it one of the economy's most perplexing subjects."

IT IS ALSO one of the most important, because not only does it contain the formula for modern creature comforts but it is the key to maintenance of tne country's internation al competitive position.

In the years 1965-70, the increase in manufacturing productivity, or output per man-hour, began slipping and averaged out to only 1.9 per cent, com-pared with up to 14 per cent in Japan and triple the U. S. rate in some other countries.

Stated another way: While the United States still produced more per worker and received greater output for its investment dollar, foreign competitors made enormous strides in closing the

It is for reasons such as these that American are going to hear a lot about productivity in 1973, espeially if the Advertising Council goes through with a contemplated $10-million ad campaign.

AMONG the projects to be tackled by the National Commission on Productivity is the compiling of a summary of the entire subject. Even those involved likely will agree that the country should have been concerned much earlier, but until relatively recently, it was simply assumed that the United States would remain the most

One way the higher prices affect consumers is through livestock breeders, who use soybeans and byproducts as feed additives, for which they now must pay more.

The Agriculture Department said last Nov. 1 that soybean production might drop below estimates because heavy rains in September and October prevented farmers from harvesting 10 to 30 per cent of their crop in some areas of the Midwest.

This was unfortunate, since the shortage came at a time of increasing demand.

Minus exports, there will be an estimated 635 million bushels in this country, but that may be depleted by late July, two full months before a new crop enters commercial channels in any volume, experts say.

Mrs. Lambe of Lynwood, is employed in Gardena and is surrounded by 25 men doing similar work. She feels she got there by being curious and "asking questions."

Mrs. Lambe (she's not a women's libber and abhors Ms.) started as an engineering department clerk 20 years ago in Compton. She subsequently served as a drafting and reports clerk before being promoted to a management office supervisor post in 1958 in the Crenshaw Compton and Gardena. She was promoted to engineer in 1968.

Her major responsibility is the planning for the placement of underground trunk cables and associated conduit from one telephone company central office to another. This involves checking records for available conduit and the number of ducts needed for a given job, then laying out a rough diagram of existing and proposed conduit.

The job involves searching sub-structure records of the county, cities and other utilities to avoid other undergroundings such as sewers, gas lines, storm drains, electrical and oil company lines and telephone cables. In addition to her underground work she has helped engineer the removal of overhead cable. During 1972 the jobs she engineered to-taled $1.7 million in cost.

"There are no limita-tions to my job just be-cause I am a woman," Mrs. Lambe said. "A man handled it before I took it over. My counterparts in two other divisions are men." Regarding the inevita-

ABC chops six series

"The Mod Squad,"
"The Paul Lynde Show" and "The Julie Andrews Hour" are among six series that have been chopped from ABC's schedule for the 1973-74 television season.

Others coming under the ax are two Saturday night situation comedies introduced at midseason "Here We Go Again' and "A Touch of Grace" — and Thursday night's "The Men" trilogy, con-sisting of "Jigsaw," "Delphi Bureau" and "Assignment: Vienna."

THE NEWS is not all bad, however, for fans of Paul Lynde and Julie Andrews. In an unusual switch, Paul will be mov-KMEX Channel 34 ing into another ABC KLXA Channel 40 series, "Temperatures KLXA Channel 40 series, "Temperatures Rising," as its star next fall. Import cars setting record

By BILL EMERY Associate Auto Editor

Imported car sales have been setting records for the past two consecutive months in the Long Beach and greater Harbor area. Most dealers report the best two months in sales for any previous period and at-tribute the upsurge in sales to the dollar's devaluation in the countries supplying the United States with imported cars.

The rush to buy is primarily due to the certain increase in price of imported cars in this, the prime U.S. market for the imports. With the dollar still seeking its own level in some foreign countries, the per-centage of increase varies with each national origin of imports. In most cases, the price increase will level off at about 10 per cent. Some have already announced as little as 4 per cent, while others are fearful that the increase will be as great as 20 per cent.

As with the domestic cars, imports must meet the stringent federal safety and emission laws as well as the California requirements. Most imports have made engine modifications while some have gone to fuel injection and eliminated carbureted engines completely. All have turned to low-lead or no-lead gasoline. Visually, most cars received only a facelift except for the protruding front bumpers.

Here are some of the highlights on the new-for-'73 imports as reported by Motor, the automotive business magazine.

Alpha Romeo

Introduced spring as a 1972 1/2, the Alfa 2000 series continues into 1973 almost unchanged. Last spring the 1,750cc engine was enlarged to 2,000cc (actually 1,-962cc) to recoup some of the performance lost through the everstricter emission controls loaded on the en-gine. It's still the basic double overhead cam engine with port-type Spica fuel injection. Compression ratio is 9 to 1. Power output is up to 129 SAE net horses at 5,800 rpm. Other Alfa staples, such as five-speed transmission, four-wheel disc brakes and excellent handling, re-main. New options with the 2000 series inlimited-slip clude differential and air conditioning. Body conditioning. styles also remain as before — Spider Ve-loce, Berlina four-door sedan and GT Veloce two-door coupe.

Audi

Inboard disc brakes mounted close to the front-wheel-drive transmission rather than outboard in the wheels. The braking system reduces un-aprung weight and assures more dependable stopping power. Included this year are larger brake shoes and brake cylinders for the rear wheels, a regulator valve for the rear wheel brakes, heavy-duty front brake calipers with larger, thick-er pads and a larger power assist unit. Also new is an electric wear indicator light which constantly monitors the condition of the front brakes.

Other changes dishigh-capacity charge ignition system for longer spark plug and point life and easier starting. Service frequency intervals increased from 6,000 to 10,000 miles. Super 90 Continued on next page

Capri

Few mechanical changes have been made on the hot-selling '73 Capri. For better roll control, a rear antiroll stabilizer bar has been added to the rear suspension. The 1,600 engine is dropped completely. Standard engine is now the more powerful 2,000cc unit. The V6 2,600cc engine remains an option. Other new options include a special dashboard with complete instrumentation, new decor groups.

Cricket

Cricket will no longer be imported from Chrysler U.K. Information we have suggests that the '73 Čricket will be a modified Colt and will be made in Japan by Mit-subishi Heavy Indus-tries, the company that makes Colt.

SAAB'S

Brand-new, the Dat-sun 610 highlights the lineup. The interior is luxurious by ·anv standards, yet the car will sell for under $3,000. The engine is an enlarged version of the familiar 1600cc Datsun mill used to power 510 sedans and pickup trucks in this country. Displacement is 1,800ce (actually 1,-770ce) and the output is 94 net hp at 5,-600rpm. Compression is 8.5 to 1. The suspen-sion of the 610 is similar to that on the old 510 with the addition of a front antiroll stabilizer bar and larger 6.45-13 tires on wider 4.5x13 wheels. Nine Flats with much technical variety are being imported for 1973. Included are front-wheel-drive and rear-wheel-drive models, two-,three-, and four-door models both manual and automatic transmissions and three engine displacements.

The biggest changes come in the 124 series. A five-speed manual transmission is standard in the Spider and Coupe models. An automatic is optional. The 124 series engine displaces 1592cc and has twin overhead camshafts. There are also major facelift dif-Continued on next page

The least expensive Lamborghini is about $20,000. The 180-mph Miura SV model is no longer imported. Lamborghini's '73 model lineup consists of the Espada 400 GT and the Jarama 400 GT 2 2. The Espada is a true four-place luxury touring car and one of the fastest. Top speed is approximately 155 mph. The car is powered by Lamborghini's famous V-12 engine which puts out 350 net horsepower at 7500 rpm..

Except for a lower-ing of the compression ratio to 7.6 to 1, Peugeots have no mechanical changes. All cars have '73 bumpers plus internal engine modifications to meet emission requirements.

Porsche Porsche

Porsche always abounds in technical refinements and '73 is no exception. On the 911 series, modified rear trailing arms permit easier removal and installation. The oil tank filler has been relocated to the engine compartment. models no longer have an oil cooler. A front spoiler is now standard on E and S models as are cast alloy wheels. There are also some minor exterior differences. trim Power is supplied by the 2.4-liter engine introduced last year.

On 914 models, a redesigned hand brake mechanism works easier, the rear skirt is snortened for better engine compartment heat dissipation and brake disc pads are thicker all around. The gearshift lever is redesigned for easier shifting and Porsche is using redesigned and stronger engine mounts. In addition, cars sold in California will have a lower 7.3 to 1 compression ratio. The ratio elsewhere for the 1.7-liter 914 engine is 8.2 to 1.

Renault

Renault's lineup contines with models 12, 15, 16, and 17. The 12 and 15 will sport the larger 1,647cc engine, previously available only on automatic Renaults sold in California. The 12's gas tank is moved to the center of the car as an added Continued on next page

WITH MORE THAN 50 CARS TO CHOOSE FROM, MORE EUROPEANS CHOOSE FLAT. MAYBE THEY KNOW SOMETHING YOU SHOULD KNOW.

Shopping around for a small car may be a new experience for you, but it's old hat to a European.

He's been doing it for over three generations.

And, after years of trial and error with all kinds of small cars, one small car has become the choice of more Europeans, Fiat.

It's not the price that accounts for Fiat's popularity.
(Inexpensive small cars are a dime a dozen in Europe.

The plain fact is that Fiats offer more car for the money.

IF YOU ONLY HAVE A LITTLE MONEY TO SPEND.

Take the Fiat 128. Every two, three or four door model comes with front-wheel drive, rack-and-pinion wheel drive, rack-and-pinior steering, front disc brakes, four-wheel independent suspension and four things most everyone else charges extra for. Radial tires. The inside of the 128 is huge, (80% of the car is designed for people and the things people carry around with them.) While the outside measures eight inches less than a Volkswagen Beetle.

IF YOU HAVE A LITTLE MORE.

The Fiat 124 is a family car whose handling and performance might embarrass a iot of high-priced sports cars.

In fact, one recent consumer study gave the 124 the highest performance rating of any car, in any class.

It also provides you and the family with quite a few creature comforts.

Like more legroom and hiproom in back than any of the ten cars in its class. And enough trunk space for seven or eight bulging suitcases.

IF SPORTS CARS ARE YOUR THINKS.

If a high performance sedan like the 124 is still a little tame for you, Fiat offers three very serious sports cars. Starting with the 850

Spider.

For two years running, it was voted the best sports car for under $3,000 by the readers of Car and Driver magazine. Ironically, it happens to be the one furthest under $3,000.

That's quite a trick when you consider that the 850 comes with a high-performance engine, front disc brakes, and four-wheel independent suspension.

Even the radial tires and an electronic tachometer are standard.

If you have more than $3,000 to spend, you might want to look at the Fiat 124
Spider. The sports car designed for the sports car purist.
It has a hand-polished body by Pininfarina, the coach builder who turns out Ferraris.

The powerful 1592-cc engine propels you from a standing start to 60 mph in 12.5 seconds.

And front-wheel independent suspension allows you to float through curves without crossing your fingers or punishing the brake pedal.

In fact, when it comes to performance, there's only one sports car that handles exactly like Fiat's top-of-the-line two-seater. Fiat's top-of-the-line four-seater. The 124

Sport Coupe.

It's a carbon copy of the 124 Spider underneath, but it has room for four healthy adults inside.

: It was designed for the true sports car enthusiast who shouldn't have to choose between his first love (his car) and his second, third and fourth loves (his family).

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT.

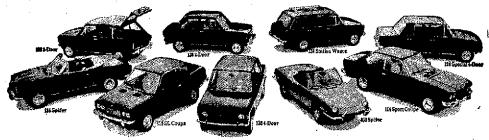

Years ago, Europeans were confronted with the same tough decisions about small cars that you have to make today.

Some of them learned the hard way. By buying a small car that never quite lived up to their expectations.

Most of them eventually came around to these cars. And stayed with them. Now, you can either con-sider this fact before you spend two or three thousand on a small car.

Or you can go ahead and take your chances.

Saab blends

have been added to the Saab product line.

Among the safety features on the '73 Saab 99 models are interior mounted door cross beams offering protection in a side-impact collision, a spe-cially designed inter-nal roof lining which covers all ceiling beams and functions both as a protective padding and as insulation, and child proof locks on four-door models.

Saab-Scania said easier steering is af-forded by a new oil filled rack-and-pinion steering gear. For better road holding and comfort front coil springs are pivot mounted to allow movement directly up and down without bending.

All 99 models are powered by a redesigned two-liter signed Swedish-built overhead camshaft engine. Modifications include larger bearings and valve train and alterations in the combu-sion chamber shape.

The Saab 99 for 1973 comes in five models in four different price ranges.

They are the two-door Saab 99; the four-door 99L; the 99LE available both in twodoor and four-door versions, and the 99EMS, a new twodoor sports sedan.

Other models in the '73 Saab lineup include the Sonett III sports coupe, the 95 station wagon and 96 four-passenger sedan.

Subaru 'soups up'

The GL Sports Coupe tops the '73 Subaru line. It features radial tires, front disk brakes, four-speed gear-box and front-wheel drive.

The front-wheel-drive wagon is designed for both around-town shopping and long-distance traveling, with a back seat that folds flat for additional cargo space. Also, the front-wheel-drive Subaru combines the convenience of a practical, easy-to-maneuver compact with a roomy, flat floor interior for added leg room and comfort.

The new wagon offers extra large, tinted-glass windows. It features a lift- up rear hatch and fold-down tailgate that levels off 16 inches

Pushbutton radio, reclining highback bucket seats, carpeting, whitewall tires, deluxe wheel covers, wood-grained dash, center console all-vinyl upholstery are included in the price.

In addition, rack and pinion steering, independent MacPherson-strut front suspension system, a fourspeed, full synchromeshed trans-mission, and flow-through fresh-air ventilation are included.

Economy leader in the Subaru line is the two-door sedan. Standard accessories include a pushbutton radio, all-vinyl upholstery, full-floor carpeting, wood-grained dash, carpeting, wood-grained dash, whitewall tires and full wheel covers.

It includes rack-and-pinion steer-ing, MacPherson-strut front suspension and independent rear torsion bar suspension.

The four-door sedan, as all models in the Subaru line, features front-wheel drive for increased traction and roadholding safety.

Austin Marina new import race entry

The Austin Marina is a completely new entry in the fast-moving, family-size compact car sales race.

Austin Marina features include a competition-proven four-cylinder engine, power-assisted disc brakes, rack and pinion steering, standard equipment radial ply tires, a large trunk, welded unit body construction for a quiet ride, cut pile carpeting, standard equipment tinted glass, reclining seats, adjusting inertia reel lap-shoulder safety belts and optional air conditioning.

bets and optional air conditioning.

Two body styles are available from the British Leyland Motors Inc. They are the four-door sedan and the two-door GT. Both are designed to seat four passengers in complete comfort.

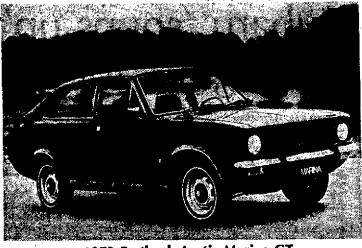

ompiete comfort.

The new Marina measures 196.1inches from bumper to bumper or almost exactly the same overall length as a Chevrolet Vega sedan. The Marina has a 96-inch wheelbase.

The Marina is powered by the same 109-cubic-inch (1798cc) displacement, five main bearing, four-cylinder, overhead valve engine as the popular MGB sports car. With a single carburetor in the Marine, it developes 68.5 SAE net horsepower at 5,000 RPM. The SAE net torque figure is 87 pounds/feet at 2,750 RPM. In twin carburetor trim, this same engine has powered MGBs to two straight Sports Car Club of America national racing champion-ships.

The four-door Marina's maximum speed is around 97 mph. With manual transmission, it can clock 0-60 mph in 14 seconds. The Marina uses 91 octane, regular grade fuel.

Two transmissions are available.

1973 Fastback Austin Marina GT

Standard is a four-speed all-synchromesh unit. The optional transmission is the well-proven Borg-Warner Type 35 three-speed automatic.

The automatic transmission option is $195 extra and the company says that approximately 50 percent of the Marinas offered will be equipped with the automatic option.

All window glass in both the four and two-door Marinas is tinted to increase the efficiency of the dealer-installed, factory-warranted air conditioning system available as optional equipment.

Flow-through fresh air ventilation is provided by an air inlet just in front of the windshield, adjustable face level vents at the left and right side of the dash and air extractors just behind the rear side windows. Additional ventilation is provided by adjustable front vent windows.

The Marina's trunk is one of the largest in the car's price class.

Volkswagen introduces automatic transmission

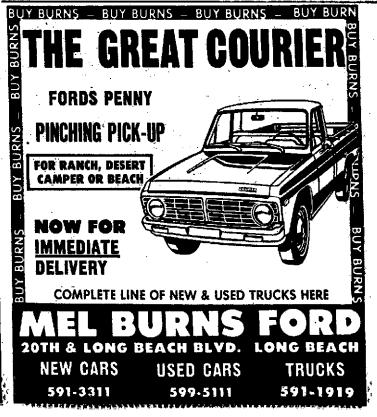

The big change touted on the Beetle is a curved windshield. Mechanically, the VW manual transmission's durability is improved through the use of larger bearings and other changes. A diaphragm clutch replaces " the former spring clutch for less pedal effort. Interior noise levels are said to be reduced through softer mountings of the transmission and differential.

Type 4s, formerly the 411 series, are now called the 412 series. There is a two-door and four-door sedan in the lineup as well as a wagon. On the 412, the muffler is now nickelplated for long life and the camshaft has been changed to give a smoother idle albeit with less top-end power. Thicker brake pads, increased diameter transmission synchronizers and the ubiquitous stronger bumpers are also featured. For the first ume an automatic. transmission can be had in the VW bus. Type 3s are virtually unchanged and continue to feature the elec-tronic fuel injection system.

New luxury sedan

The only production V-12 sedan in the world, the new Jaguar XJ12, comes complete with automatic transmission, air conditioning, poweroperated windows, power brake, power steering, electrically operated window defrosters, genuine leather reclining seats.

Honda to offer larger car in '73

American Honda, who three years ago intro-duced the Honda 600 series, has introduced a larger, more powerful car called the Honda

The Civic's impressive performance capability is the result of an array of engineering features not usually found in the economy car field. These include front-wheel drive, MacPherson strut 4-wheel independent suspension, and rack-and-pinion steering.

The Civic's weight distribution is also important to the car's handling. The center of gravity is low and forward of the center of the car for stability in turns and in crosswinds.

The brakes (power-assisted front discs) are also unique in a car in this price range in that the two independent brake systems are connected diagonally rather than laterally. In the event of a failure of one system, one front-wheel brake and the rear-wheel brake on the opposite side remain operative. And this results in better overall stopping characteristics than conventional brake systems.

Smooth, silken power.

That is the inherent nature of the Jaguar V-12.

It is a powerplant so logically designed, so perfectly balanced that it sets new standards in engine performance.

The twelve pistons exert such a constantly even force on the crank-shaft that the result approaches turbine-like smoothness, For example, while 0 to 60 in 6.8 seconds is impressive, it's not nearly as impressive as the feeling of smoothness and steadiness with which that performance is achieved.

Impressive also, is the available reservoir of torque. In any gear, at virtually any driving speed, Jaguar's V-12 gives you instant power to pass, to avoid, to leave congestion in the rear-view mirror.

This performance comes directly from the basic design, Instead of a temperamental racing engine, Jaguar developed an engine that thrives in your driving world—ducite at the stop light, polite in traffic, yet incredibly able outside the 30-mile limit.

So, in addition to its smoothness and 5.3 litres of power, this V-12 has-

Toyota features improved safety, styling for '73

Improvements in styling and safety — and the debut of an all-new station wagon — highlight Toyota's line for '73.

The diverse Toyota line introduces a new Corona four-door station wagon and includes 13 models of passenger cars, three choices of four-wheel -drive Land Cruisers, and a half-ton economy pickup truck.

A special feature of the '73 line is the availability for the first time of a three-speed automatic transmission in the Celica ST, which also has an upgraded interior with a more integrated console and air conditioner, and sportier exterior styling, including new hub caps, new tail lights and rear ornamentation.

Another innovation this year is the addition of a tachometer in the Corolla coupe with five-speed manual transmission, along with a simulated wood grain instrument panel, competition stripe and mag-style wheel covers.

Principal safety features of the new line are the addition of side door reinforcement for better protection in side impact accidents, new safety bumpers, and fire-resistant upholstery and interior trim.

The front safety bumper contains an integral absorber device which makes it capable of sustaining a 5-mile-per-hour impact. The rear bumper absorbs a 2.5 mph force.

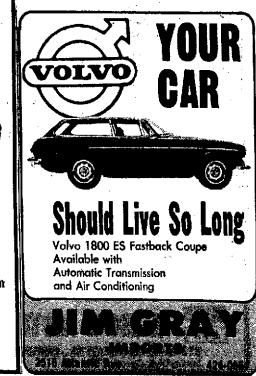

The 1973 Corolla, Carina, Corona and Celica ST models all sport a "new look" with redesigned grilles which markedly enhance their appearance.

Every model in the line has improved equipment for more stringent emission control of hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrous oxides.

All passenger cars and Land Cruiser models have illuminated control knobs on the instrument panel for lights, wiper and hazard switch, providing easier operation in the dark.

The 1973 Carina features a longer hood with sportier lines, rear end styling changes, and bigger tires for better driving stability and safety. In addition the appointments have been upgraded to provide a luxury interior at an economy price.

The Corona series — now numbering three models with the addition of the new station wagon — offers new color selections, larger tires, improved rear seat access in the hardtop model, and a new trip odometer which resets with the push of a button.

Other changes include new steering gear, provision for installation of optional headrests on all seats and longer lasting power disc brakes.

Fiat introduces redesigned 124 sports coupe in line

With introduction of the redesigned sport coupe, nine Fiat models are being im-ported into the U.S. for 1973.

New for 1973 in all nine models are steel bars in the doors and front and rear bumpers that have been moved outward from body panels with reinforced and strengthened brackets to comply with federal standards.

As in the past, all Fiats are equipped with radial tires as standard.

The 850 Spider is basically unchanged in styling, but sports an electrical windshield washer pump and new type switches.

Retaining its key position in Fiat's 1973 lineup is the 128 series, with front-drive, 1,116 c.c. single overheadcamshaft engine.

The 128 is available in two-door and fourdoor sedan models, a three-door station wagon and the new 128 SL coupe.

The 128 engine is mounted off-set to the right, forward of the front wheels. It is wheels. mounted transversely and is balanced on the left by the four-speed transmission.

All U.S. 128s have an electric fuel pump and exhaust gas recirculation.

124 series for The 1973 includes the 124 special door sedan (with a larger radiator) and the four-door station wagon, both available with automatic transmission, and the 124 Spider and redesigned coupe, each with a five-speed gearbox as standard equipment.

Changes have been made to the gearing in the two 124 sport models for improved acceleration and bet-ter utilization of the standard close-ratio five-speed.

Audi improves in engineering

The Audi automobile — known for its distinctive engineering concepts and moderately priced luxury — offers improved braking and other mechanical refinements for 1973.

Though the Audi dates to 1909, it arrived in the United States only in 1970. Since then it has become increasingly popular as luxury car drivers discover that a prestige car need not be big, or terribly expensive. Inboard disc brakes - mounted close to the front wheel drive transmission rather than outboard in the wheels, are standard equipment. For 1973 this braking system — which reduces unsprung weight — has been improved for even more dependable stopping and longer life.

The changes include larger brake shoes and brake cylinders for the rear wheels, a brake force regulator for increase efficiency of rear wheel braking, heavy duty front brake calipers with larger and thicker brake pads and a larger power assist unit. Power brakes are standard in all Audi 100LS and 100GL models. Also new for 1973 is an electric wear-indicator light for front brake pads. This on-board diagnostic device monitors brake wear constantly, alerting the driver if the brakes become dangerously worn.

Other changes include a high-capacity discharge ignition system. This is expected to give longer spark plug and ignition point life and assures a healthy high voltage spark at high engine speeds. Also new are heavy-duty bumper guards to enable the car to withstand 5-mph front and 2 1/2 mph rear impacts into barriers with no damage to safety-related equipment. A larger air vent for fresh air ventilation improves the operation of the Audi's "closed window" flow-through system. In addition, the service frequency interval has been increased from 6,000 miles to 10,000 miles (5,000 miles for oil changes) gerously worn. miles to 10,000 miles (5,000 miles for oil changes) so an owner doesn't have to worry about service stops so often.

The Audi 100GL, which is distinguished on the outside by its black vinyl roof and mag-style full wheel covers, comes with automatic transmission as standard equipment. Tinted glass and a center dashboard-to-floor console which incorporates a map light, ash tray and space for radio installation are also standard.

Like both models in the 100 series, the GL is available in two-and four-door versions. Inertiaavailable in two-and four-door versions. Inertia-reel three-point safety belts are standard as are radial ties and "child-proof" rear door locks. Bolt-on front fenders minimize repair costs. The water-cooled front engine on both Audi 100 models has a light alloy cylinder head and is canted to permit a low hood and excellent vis-ibility. The engine displacement is 114.5 cubic inches, producing 91 horsepower (SAE net).

1973 Karmann Ghia

Sports car in a lively mood

A VW with an Italian accent, the 1973 Karmann Ghia sports car features comfort and performance as well as VW's traditional quality and

Designed to provide nimble transportation for two, the 1973 Ghia uses VW running gear enveloped in a coupe or convertible body designed by the Italian stylist, Ghia and is built by the German custom body builder, Karmann who also builds bodies for Porsche,

The result is a sports car that is anything but spartan. Bucket seats have adjustable backrests and behind them is a carpeted luggage area to supplement the front trunk's carrying capacity. In convertible models, the top is fully padded so that when it is up the feeling inside the car is that of a coupe.

Volvos stress safety, comfort, performance

Volvo's durability and built-in safety features have been joined in 1973 by improved engine performance throughout the model line. Fuel injection provides the basic ingredient for the efficient and improved performance.

Made standard on Volvos sold in the western United States in 1972 and on all Volvos in 1973, the FI engines are controlled by an on-board computer which regulates the air-fuel mixture under varying operating conditions.

This has been coupled with an increased first gear ratio - from 3.13:1 to 3.41:1 in the 140 series — for quicker response off the line. A four-speed manual transmission can be obtained with an electrically operated overdrive for in-creased gas mileage at higher speeds.

Directional stability and handling ease in the 140 series are improved through modifications of the front suspension and steer-

5-inch wheels add to the improved handling characteristic of the entire line.

All Volvos are equipped with four-wheel, self-adjusting power disc brakes. A dual braking system pro-vides 80 per cent braking capability if one system fails (both front wheels and one (both rear wheel are on each circuit, independent of the other). A pressure relief valve prevents rear wheel lockup in panic or emergency braking situations.

VW's Karmann Ghia's new 1973 models have several details distinguishing them from former Instrument bezels, windshield wiper arms and the windshield washer nozzle are finished in no-glare flat black. The armrests have been redesigned and are longer. A variety of new colors with matching upholstery and interior trim round out the visible changes.

Technical improvements in the '73 Ghias in clude stronger bumpers that resist parking lot accidents with no damage to safety related equipment. The intake air preheating system has been modified for better performance with a cold engine and the car has been equipped with additional Computer Diagnosis functions. Computer Diagnosis, being installed by dealers during 1973, is VW's exclusive service check system and makes use of a computer. The computer is Like other VWs, Karmann Ghias are designed to operate on regular grade fuel so sports car fussiness is not one of its traits. Because the Ghia uses VW components, parts and service are as near as any of the 1,200 authorized VW

Many people drive a Ghia just because it looks good; except for openings for the doors, trunk and engine lid, the body is sleek and seam-

However, these drivers soon appreciate the Thia's practical features: an air-cooled engine (built largely of magnesium and aluminum) that doesn't need anti- freeze in winter and won't boil over in summer; an oil pan that takes only four quarts of oil and the traction that results from the engine being placed over the driving wheels.

In addition to Karmann Ghia coupes and convertibles, the 1973 VW line-up includes VW Beetles and Super Beetles, Type 2 buses and Campmobiles, Type 3 sedans and squarebacks and the more luxurious 412 sedans and wagons.

Renault line has frontwheel drive

now entirely equipped with front-wheel drive and includes the Re-nault 12 four-door Sedan and five-door Wagon, the Renault 15 Coupe and the fuel-injected Renault Sports Coupe.

The 12 and 15 are now fitted with a larger (1647cc) engine with Weber Carburator and also incorporate an air pump in the system. Using a rich fuel mix-ture and efficiently dealing with the emissions control problem, this system provides easier cold-starts, better acceleration, better performance smoother running.

It is calculated to give Renault a definite edge in that field over

Rotary power goes automatic

Mazda, which offers the only rotary-engine cars in the United States today, has introduced the first rotarypowered cars with a fully automatic trans-mission for '73.

All rotary-powered '73 Mazda cars carry transferable parts and service warranty on the rotary engine lasting 24 months or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first.

Both the new threespeed automatic trans-mission and the 24/24 warranty are available on the complete Mazda line of five rotary engine cars. This includes two sport coupes, two four door sedans and the only rotary-powered station wagon ever built.

The most dramatic visible change in the Renault 12 TL Sedan and Station Wagon is that the standard reclining front bucket seats have built-in head-rests and new arm-rests combined with pull handles on the front doors. A center arm- rest is found in the back seat of the 12 TL Sedan and both Sedan and Wagon have ashgrays in both rear

Safety changes include new fire-retardant upholstery materials and a new larger gas tank moved to-ward the center of the car. The side and tail lights are brighter, windshield wiper and washer switches are combined in one and all control switches are identified by illuminated name panels. A daily trip recorder has been added to the mileometer and front bumper brackets are re-inforced. Front disc brakes and rack and pinion steering are retained from '72.

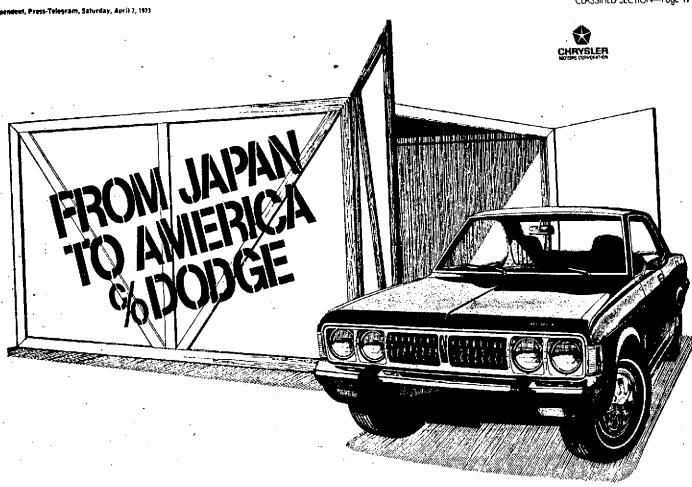

All these improve-ments plus the larger engine and new carburation system make the Renault 12 TL Sedan and Wagon even greater value money than before. for

The Renault 15, the elegant Coupe in-trodue3d in mid-1971, keeps its sleek lines, reclining bucket seats, front disc brakes, steel-belted radial tires and rack and pionion steering but now has the larger engine and new carbura-tion system. Options on the Renault 15 in-clude air conditioning, tinted glass, steel-belt-ed radial whitewall tires and metallic body

Sporty little Capri

Complete sporty instrumentation is standard on the Capri 2600 and now optional on the Capri 2000. Interior changes include a new instrument panel with a lockable glove box and new simulated-walnut decor. Seat trim and șteering wheel also are

Luxury Pantera interior

The unique interior of the DeTomaso Pantera features bucket seats that are individually adjustable and contoured for comfortable long-distance travel. A tachometer and speedometer are positioned in front of the driver, while the vertical center console carries rocker-type switches and other instruments, including controls for power-assisted windows. Outlets for air conditioning are stylishly integrated in the Instrument panel. A padded three-spoke steering wheel and leather covered gear shift, accented with the DeTomaso emblem,

Oil, gas shortage is causing concern automobile manufacturers about the shortage of oil and natural gas and its potential effect on both their industry and the nation's economy, according to Ward's Auto World magazine.

Seventy-six percent of all energy used for transportation in this country is used by products manufac-tured by Detroit's giant auto industry.

"Subtract the car and there's no energy crisis, but subtract oil and there is no automobile ... and if we run out of gas, roughly 25 percent of the nation's economy, plus a way of life that's now three generations old, could be destroyed."

In the magazine's cover story and accompanying articles on the energy dilemma, Ward's says 75 percent of the nation's total energy requirements are provided by oil and natural gas and that consumption, which has doubled since 1952, is growing at more than four percent per year. With the U.S. capable of producing only 70 percent of the domestic demand for crude oil, the balance must be imported.

And prices in the Middle East for crude have climbed 80 per cent in the last two years. Combined with sharply increased oil imports, this could have an adverse effect on the nation's precarious balance of payments.

The magazine quotes spokesmen for the energy industries as blaming the problem on over-zealous environmentalists and federal regula-

These spokesmen, says Ward's. claim that the Federal Power Commission has held down natural gas prices for 19 years, discouraging new exploration; that more than half of the nation's low-cost shallow oil has been found; that refining capacity is down because of local.

opposition to construction of refineries and because there has been little incentive to construct new facilities; and that no oil has been shipped from Alaska's north slope five years after its discovery because ecology groups are fighting construction of the trans-Alaska

On the other hand, says Ward's, oil industry critics question the figures used by the energy industries and maintain that the "energy crisis" represents only a temporary fuel shortage caused by inadequate planning and artificial controls aimed at protecting U.S. oil producers.

It quotes one GM executive as saying "this energy dilemma is already upon us and action must be taken in the near term . . . the problems are not only national in scope, lems are not only national in scope. but worldwide."

Contributing to the problem are emission controls which not only add weight but consume more gas as they clean the exhaust. Federal emission standards for 1976, which cost a 25 to 30 percent fuel penalty could, if held in abeyance, avoid a 50 percent dependency on foreign oil, one Ford executive told Ward's.

Meanwhile, General Motors, following three years of testing, has completed and placed in use at its Chevrolet plant in Cleveland a system that removes the major pollutant from coal — sulphur dioxide, according to Ward's.

The proven reserves of coal in the U.S. alone would last 400 years based on current consumption levels. GM's approach, according to Ward's, is to develop a new technology in ultimate hopes of encouraging a switch back to coal for plant fuel, thereby freeing up adequate quantities of gasoline for automotive use without great reliance on

Porsche in two versions

The mid-engine 914 roadster, best-selling Porsche in history, is available in California in two versions for 1973 — the popular 1.7-liter 914 and new-to-the -model-line 2-liter 914 which incorporates a bigger engine, improved suspension and subtle refinements in detail appointments. It all adds up to a more powerful car with more nimble handling characteristics.

Like the standard 914, Porsche's new 914 2-liter is designed for people who like to drive for the sheer fun of it. Both models can turn otherwise dull driving situations into pure pleasure.

914's borrow their most important engineering concept From the powerful Porsche 917 racing cars. Their engines are positioned amid-ships — ahead of the rear axle, providing ideal weight distribution for top handling.
